'Why' of Blackout Still Unanswered

A SHOCKING EXPERIENCE . . . Edwin J. Nellis, hand on head, systems operator in charge of Consolidated Edison's energy control center in New York, talks with his crew. The cause of the historic blackout remains as dark as the blackout itself, but state and federal agencies are making intensive investigations. Power conservation is being observed in the city as full power is not expected to be restored for several days. (AP Photofax)

FEAR 'FULL-BLOWN ATTACK'

Ike Back in Oxygen Tent

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was reported in generally satisfactory condition today after a second attack of heart pains but his doctors raised at least a possible specter of "a full blown heart attack."

A medical bulletin from the team of doctors attending the 75-year-old five-star general said:

"It is not uncommon for patients with known coronary disease to experience repeated episodes of chest pains which may or may not progress to a full blown heart attack."

Eisenhower has a record of coronary disease — his major heart attack of 1955. In their mention of a full blown heart attack the doctors defined the phrase as meaning "coronary thrombosis and myocardial infarction," which means heart muscle damage.

Capt. Wallace Hitchcock, public information officer here who read the doctors' statement to newsmen, was asked if the recurrence of pains means further hospitalization.

Hitchcock replied that doctors said the stay is based on the evaluation of the individual patient and the doctors will give a combined statement when available.

The doctors said that in the meantime they will continue the accepted therapy and prevention "which is to treat the patient with threatening attacks as if he had suffered a heart attack."

At a conference Wednesday doctors had said Eisenhower would be confined for at least two weeks. He had planned to fly to Walter Reed Hospital Friday to convalesce.

The physicians said in a bulletin:

"General Eisenhower spent a good night without further pain or discomfort. He is comfortable this morning and his general condition is satisfactory."

In effect the physicians were renewing what they said Wednesday night after recurring heart pains forced his return to an oxygen tent.

The pains Wednesday were "more prolonged and of longer duration" than the mild attack of angina pectoris, or heart pains, which occurred just after midnight Monday night, doctors said.

Announcement of the sudden reversal in the condition of the 75-year-old five-star general came about an hour after the doctors had said he was making a good recovery and might be playing golf again in two weeks.

3 Red Planes Defect to Chiang

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Three Chinese Communist aircraftmen defected to Nationalist China today and flew their Ilyushin 28 jet bomber to Formosa, the Chinese Nationalist Defense Ministry announced.

Two of the crewmen were injured, one seriously, in landing the plane at an air force base in north Formosa, the ministry said.

Winds of Hell Were Loose

Twenty-five years ago today the most severe storm in Weather Bureau records for November swept the Northwest, killing 54 persons in paralyzing wind and snow.

Today the Winona Daily News reprints the account of the late Gordon MacQuarrie, then outdoor editor of the Milwaukee Journal, who made a tour of the area the day following the blizzard.

For an interesting word picture of the death-dealing 1940 Armistice Day storm read "When the Winds of Hell Were Loose" on Page 8.

3 Aluminum Producers Back Down on Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three of the nation's four big aluminum producers backed down today in the face of stern Johnson administration opposition and canceled price increases the government had called inflationary.

The Aluminum Co. of America—No. 1 in the industry—called it quits Wednesday night by rescinding the increases announced Monday. Reynolds Metals followed two hours later.

Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp., third biggest, joined the procession midmorning today. That firm called the price rises "restorations" and said its action followed "similar cancellations by other major producers."

That left Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., as the one big holdout at the time.

Alcoa's decision to cancel the price increase was announced at a hastily called night press conference by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. He hailed it as "a patriotic act."

The defense secretary also said the government agreed to an immediate resumption of negotiations for the orderly disposal of a surplus of 1.4 million tons of aluminum now held in national stockpiles.

McNamara said he believed the government would be able to limit the amount of aluminum disposed of from the stockpile to less than 200,000 tons and thus "avoid disruption" of prices.

Last Saturday when federal officials denounced the price increase, they also announced that the government was considering releasing 200,000 tons from the stockpile in 1966.

On Monday, officials of the Office of Emergency Planning announced they had begun making preparations for the immediate release of 100,000 tons of stockpile aluminum, raising to 300,000 tons the amount of aluminum the government planned to make available.

Some of the surplus aluminum, McNamara said Saturday, would not be sold but transferred directly to needed defense producers. If effected, the transfer would have cost the aluminum industry a huge sales market.

Highest State Property Levy Seen for Year

ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesotans are faced with the highest property levy for state purposes in the history of the state.

State Auditor Stafford King set the levy Wednesday. It totals 18.42 mills. Last year's levy totaled 16.14 mills.

The state mill levy makes up only a small portion of the total tax bill for taxpayers in each local taxing district. City, County and school district taxes make up the bulk of the levy on property.

The state auditor has little choice in setting the levy since he must collect taxes in amounts needed to support programs approved by the legislature.

The highest previous levy was 17.14 mills in 1963.

One mill levied on all taxable property in Minnesota will raise about $2,270,613. One mill with homestead exemptions figured in will raise about $1,732,982.

The state levy, payable next year, does not apply evenly on all property in the state because of certain laws, mainly those affecting teacher retirement programs.

The full rate of 18.42 mills applies on non-homestead property outside of cities of the first class. The rate within cities of the first class is 9.93 mills on non-homestead property.

Main reason for the difference is that teacher retirement funds are supported locally in the three cities of the first class—Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth. Teachers in other areas draw retirement benefits from a state fund.

The three main programs for which the state collects property taxes are soldiers' relief, teachers' retirement and state building programs.

Veterans Day Takes On New Significance

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer

Veterans Day takes on added significance today as Americans take time to tell their fighting men in Viet Nam, "We're behind you."

In Main Street parades, on speaking platforms, in blood drives and among the long rows of white crosses in military cemeteries, the nation pauses to remember, reflect and rededicate.

To the people of Audubon,

Iowa, the war in Viet Nam suddenly comes close to home today. Donald D. Haskins, 22, a sailor fatally wounded at Da Nang last month, will be laid to rest.

The American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars in Hamilton, Ohio, put on an "Operation Boost" parade supporting American involvement in Viet Nam. Marchers have been asked to bring personal items to be sent to servicemen there.

Students at Alabama College at Montevallo have scheduled a blood drive for U.S. troops, plus a fund raising campaign to provide a special gift for the American forces. Other activities include a flag raising ceremony and a speech by Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala.

Dave Watson, commander of the VFW post in Muscatine, Iowa, said the hope behind the town's parade is that it "will offset some of the publicity being given to the demonstrations against U.S. policy in Viet Nam." Bremer County, Iowa, veterans are calling their parade a "walk for the men in Viet Nam."

The national headquarters of the American Legion distributed 10 million lapel pin flags for "Operation Show Your Colors." Each pin comes with a card saying "Americans are serving the cause of freedom in Viet Nam. I wear my country's flag to show that I support their efforts."

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey laid a wreath for President Johnson on the Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington National Cemetery across the Potomac River from the nation's capital.

In prepared remarks, the vice president said: "We are in Viet Nam to keep a commitment established by international treaty. We are there because, once again in history, it must be proved to aggressors that the price of their aggression comes far too high."

"We will remain in Viet Nam until a just and lasting peace can be established there."

12-Month River Season Discussed

DAVENPORT, Iowa (AP) — Congress is being asked to study the feasibility of a 12-month shipping season on the upper Mississippi River, Rep. John Schmitz, D-Iowa, said Wednesday.

Schmitz said it is hoped Congress will determine "if the tremendous cost of the proposed project will be offset by the dollar value gained in increased shipping."

"We have learned that if the river remained open the year round, barge traffic would be increased."

Byrd Retiring From Senate

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd, a strong voice for economy in Washington for the past 30 years and head of Virginia's dominant Democratic state organization, announced his retirement today.

Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr. made the disclosure at a hastily called news conference. He said the resignation was effective immediately and that he planned to name an interim successor until the next general election in November 1966.

Harrison gave no intimation of anyone he had in mind to succeed the 78-year-old Democratic chief but speculation was that senator's son, Harry F. Byrd Jr., or Rep. William M. Tuck might be on the list.

Ready to Defy British Threat Of Sanctions

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Prime Minister Ian Smith declared Rhodesia independent today, the first such declaration against Britain since the American colonies broke away in 1776.

Britain retaliated swiftly, in effect outlawing Rhodesia. Prime Minister Harold Wilson declared in the House of Commons that Smith and his ministers had been fired—an action which will be ignored in Rhodesia. Wilson asserted his government will have no dealings with the Rhodesian regime.

Wilson expelled Rhodesia from the sterling area, banned exports, including British purchases of Rhodesia's $112 million a year tobacco crop, ended all British aid, suspended trading preferences.

Britain embargoed the shipment of all arms to this central African country, and asked for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council.

Britain's allies, including the United States, and Commonwealth members are expected to join in ignoring the declaration and in imposing economic sanctions.

While Smith still was speaking on the radio, British Governor Sir Humphrey Gibbs announced that Smith and all his ministers had been dismissed on orders of Queen Elizabeth for "an unconstitutional act of independence."

With his proclamation of independence, however, Smith had ceased to recognize the powers of the British governor and London has said it will not use force.

Smith and his Cabinet determined to go it alone after months of fruitless negotiations in which the British government demanded guarantees of eventual political power for the colony's 4 million Africans. Smith and his colleagues are determined to preserve rule by Rhodesia's 225,000 white settlers.

In proclaiming independence, Smith rejected last-minute appeals from both Wilson and Queen Elizabeth II. Wilson had telephoned Smith at 6 a.m. today in a final attempt to dissuade him.

Smith and his Cabinet sent a message to Queen Elizabeth II Wednesday pledging loyalty to the crown "whatever happens." Some British officials in London considered this a prelude to seizure of independence. Others considered it political brinkmanship designed to impress public opinion in Rhodesia and Britain.

The queen immediately replied with an appeal for the white leaders of the central African colony to avoid illegal acts and demonstrate their loyalty by "continuing to act in a constitutional manner."

Smith's broadcast was monitored in London at No. 10 Downing Street while the British Cabinet was in session considering the crisis.

Marcos Ahead In Philippines

MANILA (AP) — Sen. Ferdinand E. Marcos was virtually assured of the Philippine presidency Thursday night.

He had a commanding 530,971-vote lead and intimates of President Diosdado Macapagal privately conceded defeat.

Marcos was carrying his vice presidential running mate, Fernando Lopez, along with him by a slim 40,936-vote margin.

10,000 Area Residents Expected to Try for Deer

More than 10,000 men, women and children in Southeastern Minnesota will dress in red and go deer hunting this weekend. The season opens at sunrise Saturday and continues through Monday in the five-county area.

THIS ESTIMATE is based on the present demand for the $5 license. It is greater than a year ago, when more than 10,000 licenses were sold in the five counties of Fillmore, Houston, Olmstead, Wabasha and Winona.

The 1964 sale in Winona County was in excess of 3,000, according to Richard Schoonover, county auditor. His agents sell licenses throughout the county. None are sold after Saturday, the first day of the season, according to the game laws. Agents must turn in all license books not later than Monday morning.

Possibility of bagging a deer is about 1 to 3 in Southeastern Minnesota. Game biologists estimated that 33 percent of the hunters in the five-county area were successful last season. Statewide 122,225 deer were killed in 1964 by 270,000 hunters for a success ratio of 44 percent.

HUNTERS in Zone 6 (Southeastern Minnesota) are not permitted to use rifles, but only shotguns with a single slug. This imposes, in the opinion of most hunters, a handicap over the rifle hunter.

A survey of wardens and game biologists indicate that the supply of deer in the area is equal or larger than that of 1964. The habitat is good and the fawn crop last spring was good.

"We have as many or more deer than a year ago," George Meyer, superintendent of the Whitewater refuge, said. This 20,000-acre refuge is the primary deer area of the five counties. Over 300 deer were killed there last year.

The refuge has some closed areas. The Whitewater State Park, adjoining the refuge, is closed to all hunting, as are all parks.

"Closed" areas of the Upper Mississippi Wild Life and Fish Refuge also are closed during the deer season. WEATHER is the biggest single factor in deer hunting. When it is too dry hunters make considerable noise moving through the woods and the deer are "spooked." When it rains and cover is wet, the deer usually lie low and travel very little. A hunter nearly has to step on the deer to get it up. Rainy weather also decreases visibility.

The ideal hunting conditions include a little fresh overnight snow and cold, snappy morning with sunshine. The deer will be alive and moving.

Population of white tail deer is up this year in HOUSTON and FILLMORE, according to Philip Ham, La Crescent, warden, and Robert Ralove, Preston, warden.

"We need more hunters and a heavy kill," Ham said, "the herd is causing a lot of damage, and there is almost a car-deer accident every night."

Ralove predicts that with favorable weather there'll be a good deer harvest in the Root River areas, extending into the river bottomlands in Olmstead County.

Francis Teske, Winona County warden, believes that the deer population in this county is definitely down. The car kill has been less and reports of sighting are not as common as last year, he said.

The deer population is definitely down in GOODHUE and WABASHA counties, according to Willis Kruger, Wabasha County warden, and John Anderson, Red Wing warden.

"We had only one road kill in the past three weeks," Kruger said. "I have not seen nearly as many deer as in past years."

Many hunters in these two counties plan to go north for their deer.

SOUTHEASTERN Minnesota wardens don't expect as much hunting pressure this year, because there is a one-day open season across all of southern Minnesota. However, if hunters in this zone don't get a deer the first day they will migrate into Zone 6 for two days more hunting.

Advance deer license sales, county auditors report, indicate a greater migration of local hunters in the north woods for the rifle zone season. Many plan to spend most of the nine-day season in the north woods providing there is hunting snow. Deer is reported plentiful in some northern areas not hit by the deep snow last winter.

SHOOTING HOURS sunrise to sunset for the Winona area are: Saturday, 7 a.m. to 4:42 p.m.; Sunday, 7:01 a.m. to 4:41 p.m., and Monday 7:03 a.m. to 4:40 p.m.

WISCONSIN DEER season opens a week later, on Nov. 20, with the state divided into four zones. In Zone 11 which covers the Mississippi River counties of Western Wisconsin, there is a two-day, any-sex season. The buck only season in northern Wisconsin runs through Nov. 28.

WILL DILG CHAPTER Will Dilg Chapter, Isaac Walton League, will meet in its cabin in Latsch Prairie Island Park at 8 p.m. today. The road is open. There will be lunch and entertainment.

Cancer Crusade Chairman Named

Dr. E. V. Schoener

Chairman of the 1966 Cancer Crusade in Winona County will be Dr. E. V. Schoener, who is vice president of the Winona County cancer board.

The crusade is scheduled for April. Volunteers will distribute literature when they canvass business and residential areas. City residential chairman will be Mrs. Gertrude Hermes.

Dr. Schoener is a graduate of the University of Minnesota dental school and has been in practice here since 1952. He was a paratrooper in the Pacific Theater in World War II.

He is a member of the dental societies, Chamber of Commerce, the Community Chest board, the Knights of Columbus, the Serra Club and St. Casimir's Church.

He, his wife and seven children live at 198 Mechanic St.

State Commander To Attend District VFW Meeting Here

State Commander Ronald Koenitz will attend the district Veterans of Foreign Wars meeting here Jan. 9. It was announced at a meeting of Neville-Lien Post 1287 Wednesday evening. The post went on record in support of the government's action in Viet Nam. A VFW spokesman said that the members "feel it is much better to fight the enemy over there than on American soil."

The annual Christmas party for children will be held in the clubhouse Dec. 18. In charge are Walter Kirch, Edward Holehouse and Floyd Kuhlman. The Thanksgiving dinner for children of St. Joseph's Children's Home is in charge of Chaplain Raymond Buege. They also will attend the Christmas party on Dec. 18.

In reporting on the Red Cross blood program, Chairman Gerald Van Felt said that securing of blood donors is becoming more difficult. He said that for the fourth time the VFW has won the trophy from the American Legion post. It's based on pints donated by members of the respective organizations.

St. Mary's Business Fraternity to Initiate Six Pledges on Sunday

The five-week pledge period of the Alpha Kappa Psi, business fraternity of St. Mary's College, will end Sunday with initiation of the pledges.

Michael Accurso, a junior from Mt. Prospect, Ill., and chairman of this semester's pledge period, announced six pledges: Michael Barone, a sophomore from Chicago; David Crandall, a junior from Austin, Minn.; Dennis Dahlman, a junior from Stevens Point, Wis.; Robert Godar, a junior from Chicago; Al Versino, a sophomore from Wilmette, Ill.; and Larry Wojtasik, a junior from Chicago.

Charles Emrich, Chicago senior fraternity president, said that the organization aims to promote among students and the public a better understanding of the business field and encourage education leading to business degrees.

Area May Miss Snow Flurries; Rain on Friday

The prediction of scattered showers tonight and Friday remained but the weatherman wasn't sure the area would get any of the snow flurries moving across the state today.

The prediction of scattered snow flurries remained in the area forecast for late this afternoon, however. But tonight is expected to be mostly cloudy with scattered showers and a low of 38-45. Friday, too, will be mostly cloudy and more rain is forecast for the day with the high in the top 40s.

MOSTLY FAIR and quite cold is the outlook for Saturday. Wednesday's drizzle amounted to only .02 of a foot but kept the ground wet. The temperature rose to an afternoon high of 45 before dipping to an overnight low of 35. At noon today the reading was 40.

This contrasts with a high of 63 on this day a year ago and a low of 44. On that day .04 of an inch of precipitation was measured.

All-time high for Nov. 11 was 68 in 1909 and the low 9 in 1926 and 1950.

Cold weather continued over much of northern Minnesota with the thermometer dropping to 12 at International Falls and 16 at Hibbing. It was 24 at Alexandria, 19 at Brainerd, 21 at St. Cloud and 22 at Duluth.

Rochester posted a low of 30 after a Wednesday high of 40 and La Crosse had figures of 34 and 37.

Good duck hunting weather prevailed over most of WISCONSIN today. Skies were cloudy over the state this morning with drizzle reported at Oshkosh, Clintonville and Rhinelander and light rain at Green Bay.

The weather conditions today were a carryover from Wednesday when a little light rain and drizzle fell over much of the state with some areas reporting a little snow.

Precipitation amounts for the 24 hour period ending at 6 a.m. today included: Park Falls .08 inch, Lone Rock .05, Madison .01 with traces at La Crosse, Green Bay, Wausau and Eau Claire.

Heavy fog developed in some areas of the state during the night.

MAXIMUM temperatures Wednesday were somewhat below normal. The highest temperature reported in the state was 44 at Bala. Temperatures in most areas fell little during the night due to the heavy cloud cover. The only exception was in Superior where skies cleared for a while causing the temperatures to drop to 22 degrees for the state low.

Firm Purchases Former City Hall Building

Winona Warehouse Corp. is the new owner of the former city hall building at 4th and Lafayette streets, corporation officers said today.

Former owners are Mrs. Dorothy Owen, 718 Main St., and Mrs. Rose Whittaker, 318 Huff St. Ownership was transferred last month.

John R. Nankvil, 1338 Wincrest Dr., is president of Winona Warehouse Corp.

At present the building's occupants include Standard Lumber Co. home offices, the Hiawatha Mental Health Center, Frank West real estate agency and the J. G. Hoepfner insurance agency. The building formerly housed business offices of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co.

Nearly all first-floor space has been renovated, according to Robert McQueen, an officer of Winona Warehouse Corp., and will be available for rental occupancy. No other changes are contemplated, he said.

The building was erected in 1906 and occupied by city governmental offices until 1939, when they were moved to their present building.

491 Take Tests At Blair Stop

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — A total of 491 received free examinations at the state Board of Health survey unit at Blair Monday through Wednesday.

At Preston town hall Monday 184 took advantage of the free chest X-rays, blood pressure and diabetes tests and Tuesday 221. At Preston Cooperative Cheese plant Wednesday morning 86 took the test.

The unit opened in Ettrick Wednesday afternoon, was there today, and moves on to Schilling Electric, Galesville, where it will be open Friday from 10 a.m. to noon. It will return to Galesville Monday afternoon, giving tests at the city hall from 6 to 9 p.m. and will remain there through next Thursday morning before moving to Ettrick, its last stop.

Merchants Bank Boosts Capital

An increase of $150,000 in its surplus has raised total capital of Merchants National Bank to $1,650,000, according to G. M. Grabow, president.

The increase was ordered at a meeting of directors Tuesday.

FUNDS WERE transferred from the bank's undivided profits, boosting the surplus from $750,000 to $900,000. This amount, along with capital of $750,000, brings total capitalization to $1,650,000.

This transfer has increased the bank's lending capacity, Grabow said, and was made because of active demand for loan capital in the regional economy. Under banking regulations no loan may be for more than 10 percent of a bank's combined capital and surplus.

The lending limit thus is raised from $150,000 to $165,000.

Trempealeau Cuts Supervisors to 20

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — The Trempealeau County Board of Supervisors has reduced its membership from 39 to 20.

According to the ordinance passed Tuesday there'll be 16 supervisory districts with four having two delegates at large.

THE ORIGINAL ordinance, presented at a special meeting in September, had proposed dividing the county into 17 supervisory districts, with four districts having two delegates

Planners Slated To Meet Tonight

A regular meeting of the City Planning Commission will be held this evening at 7:30 at City Hall.

On the commission agenda is a petition for rezoning of property at 366 E. Sarnia St., owned by Cortland Hauge. The commission was unable to act on the petition at its last meeting for want of a quorum.

The north half of the lot in question is in an M-1 (light manufacturing) zone, while the south half, nearest to Sarnia street, is R-3 (multi-family residential). A group of three apartment buildings will be erected on the lot if the zoning change is granted. No residential construction is allowed in manufacturing zones and the residential portion of the property is too small to provide minimum lot areas required for multi-dwelling construction.

If the commission recommends rezoning, the petition also must have a public hearing before the City Council.

CLU Concerned About Draft Card Burning; Vets Holiday Asked

Concern over draft card burnings and "other examples of non-patriotism" was expressed at a meeting of Winona Central Labor Union Wednesday night at the Labor Temple.

Members voted to direct the education committee to draft a resolution endorsing the designation of Veterans Day as a work holiday in future contracts with employers. According to Howard Hoveland, committee chairman, such a reservation would help "restore this day to its former status."

A Profile of the U.S. Veteran

The war veteran population has grown in proportion to the remainder of the population during U.S. history.

Since World War II, one out of every five persons aged 18 or more has been a veteran. In 1915 only one percent of the total civilian population aged 18 or more were veterans. Before World War II the peak veteran-nonveteran ratio had been reached right after the Civil War, when about 1 out of every 12 adults was a war veteran.

THAT'S reported by the Minnesota Veterans Day Committee in drawing a profile of U.S. veterans. It also notes:

- Since 1950, slightly more than one-third of all U.S. males at least 15 years old have been war veterans. In 1963, three out of four men aged 35 - 39 years were veterans; three out of five men aged 30 - 34 years, and four out of five men aged 40 - 44 years were veterans.

- There are 22 million veterans of all wars living today. More than 9 out of every 10 are married and heads of families. The nation's veterans and their families comprise approximately 43 percent of the U.S. population.

- About 31 million persons have served in the U.S. armed forces during the various wars, from the Revolutionary War through the Korean Conflict; over half of all participants served in World War II.

- The last Revolutionary War veteran died in 1869, more than 85 years after it officially ended; the last War of 1812 veteran lived until 1905, or 90 years after it ended; the last Mexican War veteran survived for 81 years after that war ended in 1848; and the last Civil War veteran, Union and Confederate, lived 90 and 93 years, respectively, after the end of the war.

- In the years since 1940, the annual number of deaths of veterans has risen from 45,000 to 230,000. There were three times as many deaths of World War I veterans in the past year (117,000) as there had been in 1940 (35,000); in 1964, an estimated 96,000 World War II veterans died.

- There were 400,000 women veterans.
- On the average, World War II veterans served in the armed forces about six months longer than did Korean Conflict veterans; 30 months compared to 24 months.

- Korean Conflict veterans were better educated when they

At the September session, H. Ray Nereng, Blair, board chairman, requested that any amendments proposed to the original ordinance be given to the county clerk so copies could be sent to all members before the annual meeting.

Only one amendment proposal was sent in. A plan for the towns of Arcadia and Dodge would have meant changes in several other districts in the original ordinance. Donald Forsythe, Town of Arcadia supervisor, asked that members consider the amendment.

From the floor, Irwin Hogden, supervisor of the Town of Ettrick, stated that he thought he had indicated at the September session that the Town of Ettrick would like districts 13 and 14 in one district, with two supervisors at large. His amendment was approved by oral voting.

EDWARD KULIG, Independence, moved that the original ordinance presented by the reappointment committee be adopted, with Hogden's recommended amendment.

It passed, 31-6.

The reappointment ordinance, to be sent to the secretary of state office for certification, will provide for 16 supervisors.

The four areas represented by two supervisors elected at large will include the following combinations:

- District 3 — towns of Albion and Chimney Rock and villages of Strum and Eleva.
- District 6 — Town of Lincoln and City of Whitehall.
- District 10 — City of Arcadia.
- District 16 — towns of Trempealeau, Dodge and Caledonia and Village of Trempealeau.

Districts represented by ONE SUPERVISOR will be: Osseo; Summer and Unity; Hale; Town of Pigeon and Village of Pigeon Falls; Independence; Town of Burnside and that part of the Town of Arcadia north of the south line of Independence School District; Town of Arcadia with the exception of the part placed with Burnside; Town of Preston; Blair; Town and village of Ettrick and that part of the Town of Gale lying between Ettrick village and the Jackson County line; Town of Gale with the exception of the part attached to Ettrick; and Galesville.

Buffalo Co. Budget Up, Levy Down

ALMA, Wis. (Special) — A budget of $1,062,600 — $61,126.37 less than proposed — was adopted by the Buffalo County Board of Supervisors before adjourning the annual session Wednesday afternoon. Last year the budget was $937,424.

A tax levy of $521,784 was adopted; that's $65,609.09 less than proposed. The tax levy this year is under the 1964 levy of $446,813.

HIGHWAY appropriations totaled $564,606. Other county expenditures were appropriated at $364,210.

On motion of Otto Bollinger, Mondovi, $50,000 was transferred from the general fund to highway purposes, cutting the appropriations.

Effective Jan. 1, salary and wage increases were voted by the board a. follows, on recommendation of the salary committee consisting of Lorn C. Howard, Emmons, Accola, Alvin Borgwardt, Edward Baecker and Harold Zittel:

Traffic Officer Henry Zeicher, $410 to $435; Traffic Officer Robert Sing, $400 to $425; Elmer Austin, night jailer, from $230 to $240; Undersheriff Mrs. Myron Hoch, from $25 to $35; Walter Kalmes, veterans service officer, from $340 to $370; Sandra Ebert, deputy county clerk, from $290 to $310; Delbert Stelmach, highway commissioner, from $485 to $520; Berge Ritscher, highway clerk, from $445 to $470; Carol Hauser, clerk, from $425 to $450; Judith Buchholz, extension office secretary, from $220 to $240; Palmer Peterson, janitor, from $370 to $380; Clarence Gross, janitor, from $125 to $130; full-time secretarial help, $175 to $185; part-time secretarial help, $110 to $120; and Milan Schultz, patrol superintendent, from $450 to $485.

THE SALARY of Deputy Sheriff Clem Breen was left at $355. The car allowance of Sheriff Myron Hoch was increased from $100 per month to $125. District Attorney Roger Hartman was allowed actual secretarial and other expense.

The extension agents received county increases in accordance with the state plan of increases. County Agent Archie Brovold received a county increase from $309.15 to $325; Home Agent Nancy Gerner from $166.66 to $180; and Albert Frankenstein, 4-H club agent, from $141.65 to $155.

Board members were guests at dinner Wednesday noon of Arthur Wolfe, Fountain City; Elmer Brenn, Naples, and Edward Baecker, Town of Montana, who were elected to the highway committee.

St. Charles School To Hold Parent Meetings Next Week

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special) — Parent-teacher conferences for all grades, primary through high school, in the St. Charles Consolidated School will be Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday starting at 2 p.m. each day.

Classes on those days will be dismissed at 1:30 p.m. and buses will leave at 1:35 p.m. Parents of each child in the elementary classes will be called in to conferences with their respective teachers; parents will receive the report cards.

Parents of high school students who don't receive requests to a conference and wish to meet with a teacher are to call the high school office for an appointment.

Defendant Freed In Wabasha Co. Paternity Case

WABASHA, Minn. — Defendant in a paternity case in Wabasha County District Court won his case Tuesday against the state.

Roy J. Rouse, about 30, Osseo, Minn., formerly of Lake City, was represented by Gary E. Persian, Minneapolis. County Attorney John McHardy represented the state. Rouse and the girl, 22, rural Lake City, were the only witnesses. The trial lasted from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., with the jury taking an hour to deliberate.

The jury will return Tuesday at 10 a.m. for three cases scheduled.

Judge Dismisses Case Against Mabel Driver

PRESTON, Minn. (Special) — The criminal case against Richard Delroy Benson, Mabel, represented by Snyder & Joerg, Preston, was dismissed in Fillmore County District Court Tuesday afternoon by Judge A. C. Richardson.

Benson was charged with criminal negligence in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore J. Espelien, Spring Grove, Jan. 1 about 3 a.m. Benson was driving east and the Espeliens toward Prosper to eat at the State Line Cafe when their cars collided on Highway 44 about 2 1/2 miles west of Mabel.

A jury was drawn Tuesday and testimony continued into Tuesday. The case was dismissed before going to the jury on grounds that testimony failed to prove criminal negligence.

J. F. Herrick, county attorney, prosecuted.

Man's March Toward Human Rights Reviewed

Milestones in the development and protection of the basic democratic concepts of the rights of man were reviewed this morning by Henry Hull, an assistant professor of history at Winona State College, in a Veterans Day address at Winona Senior High School.

A veteran of five years service in the armed forces, Hull was the principal speaker at the annual program for students and the public at which representatives of a dozen Winona veterans organizations were platform guests.

Car Wrecked, Man Survives

An Altura man had minor injuries, but his 1963-model car was a wreck after a 578-foot ride off Highway 248 Wednesday night, according to Sheriff George L. Fort.

Willis Pasche, 30, was driving his two-door sedan south on the highway, about a mile north of Rollingstone, at 7 p.m. when a deer came onto the road, he told Deputies John Schneider and Elroy Balk.

He pulled to the right to avoid the animal, Pasche said; and his car traveled 426 feet along the right shoulder before striking a post that marked a culvert.

Impact threw the Pasche car farther to the right, 26 feet across the concrete culvert. And it flipped end over end twice before coming to a halt in a field 30 feet from the highway and 126 feet from the culvert.

Pasche suffered cuts on his face and one hand but was not hospitalized. His car was destroyed, its front end and engine torn out of the rest of the body.

Root River FU To Hear Governor

SPRING VALLEY, (Special) — Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag and Edwin Christianson, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union, will speak at the Root River Farmers Union annual meeting at Spring Valley High School Nov. 23. Dinner will be served from 6 to 8 p.m.

Man's March Toward Human Rights Reviewed

A CRUCIAL internal problem developed, he reminded his audience, when democratic principles were challenged "by the dangerous ulcer of stateocracy" and a war between the states was fought to resolve this problem.

"Our nation did not perish," he observed, "because there were those who took rifles in their hands" — citing specifically at this point the participation of Minnesotans and Wisconsin volunteers — to preserve the rights of free men.

Although the Spanish-American War historically has been a subject of controversy, Hull said that the actions of men like P. F. Loughrey who went to the Philippines after that war to help in the education of those people "certainly doesn't sound like Yankee imperialism to me."

He went on to the "great holocaust of warfare" — World War I — "where men fought under conditions that almost would make a maggot sick to its stomach but they helped keep the eagle of democracy flying."

He traced the history of the democratic philosophy of the rights of free men from the early Colonial days, through the Revolutionary War period and in other crises which have subsequently faced the nation.

He also dwelt on the names of those who were responsible for preserving the heritage of freedom the United States is seeking to safeguard in the world today and called attention to the "incredible self-sacrifice, the selflessness" of the men who fought and gave their lives to protect these freedoms.

expressed confidence that these problems will be solved and that, as in the past, the nation is up to the task of dealing with its external problems as well.

"Many of you young men will be called to serve your country in the days ahead," he said to the student audience. "You have here in this auditorium today men who are examples of those who in the past have accepted their responsibilities for the preservation of freedom."

Acknowledging that there remains the right to hold differences of opinion in free democracy, he emphasized that the basic goal of this nation today is to preserve the democratic ideals of freedom.

"It is a privilege for you to serve in this cause of freedom," he concluded, "a privilege to help keep the American eagle of freedom flying high."

THE SPEAKER was introduced by Miss Edna Nelson, an instructor in the social studies department at Senior High School and the invocation was pronounced by the Rev. G. H. Huggeniv, pastor of Central Lutheran Church.

The colors were advanced by the color guard of Leon J. Wetzel Post 8 of the American Legion, a Senior High student, Linda Buswell, led the audience in the pledge to the flag and there was music by the Senior High band directed by Robert W. Andrus and the high school choir directed by Meryl Nichols.

He acknowledged that since World War II there have been no easy times and noted that the nation still is coping with certain internal problems. He

Earl Takes Peek At Princess Suite

By EARL WILSON

BEVERLY HILLS — I can tell my grandchildren that when Princess Margaret was visiting the United States, she and I were living in the same house — the house was called the Beverly Hills Hotel — and up in the Presidential Suite on the VIP floor, the Princess kept asking for me personally. The Princess kept saying, "Oh, waiter!"

And that was me in Margaret's Set.

Twice covering the Princess' social sashays in London — and three years apart — I received royal recognition while standing very near Her Highness, in my dinner jacket, of course, my pencil poised to make jottings on a small discreet pad. Twice her dual escorts eyed me, sharply clapped their hands, and cried out, "Waiter! More champagne!"

My name was on everybody's lips in the royal entourage. It was Earl this and Earl that, and even the photographers kept yelling, "Hey, Earl! Just one more!"

Actually the Princess impressed the hotel, which is accustomed to royalty — movie royalty — with her non-autocratic manner. About 20 bouquets were waiting in her suite, and she personally inspected each one and read the cards of all the senders.

SHE WAS on a working schedule. Half an hour after arriving at the hotel, Margaret and Tony were out again — "Sightseeing," one aide said.

The "sightseeing" was principally a cocktail party given by Vincent Price.

"They were most gracious," said Stewart H. Hathaway, managing director of the hotel. "As they were leaving to go sightseeing, Lord Snowdon bowed to me and, with a sense of humor, said, 'Mr. Hathaway, we've had a pleasant stay and will see you again some time.'"

Inasmuch as the Princess was Rolls-Roycing off by way of the hotel garage frequently, Hathaway went home to get some black four-in-hand ties for the throats of his garage employees, who usually went tieless.

THERE WAS only one protocol problem. Somebody hung up the Union Jack either backwards or upside down. It had to be rehung. Afterward nobody except the British could tell the difference.

On the tour the royal party's luggage — 68 pieces — preceded ed them by 24 hours, in charge of two footmen who unpacked so that the Princess never saw this unsightly operation.

The $140-a-day (plus tax) Presidential Suite — which is "more for corporation presidents than president of nations" — delighted closet-conscious females. Margaret has six beige silk-lined closets within a closet, a gold-domed entrance, three fireplaces, a large curving bar shaped like a question mark, and a balcony all around the suite on which she could go out in the morning and sniff the California smog.

NO PRESIDENT has stayed in the Presidential Suite, but Johnny Carson has. So have the Shah of Iran, David Sarnoff and William S. Paley. Joseph E. Levine, of the movie royalty, tenants an almost identical suite next door which he prefers because the view permits him to see movie theaters, form which he gets some of his money.

A woman in slacks and wearing a Mexican serape was seen in the lobby. A hotel executive said, "Princess Margaret is bringing all sorts of strange-looking people in, isn't she?"

Another hotel executive said, "Oh, didn't you notice? That's Elizabeth Taylor."

Montana Antelope
Two Winona hunters returned Monday from a two-week hunt with two antelope and two mule deer from the southeast corner of Montana near Ekalaka and a report of very hard hunting and a big decrease in game. The winter kill was blamed by the natives.

This is the seventh year that Kenneth Seehold, 1612 Edgewood Road, in checkerboard shirt, hunted in the area, and the sixth for his partner Merlyn Von Borgen, 111 E. Sanborn St., the other party in the picture. The two doe antelope weighed about 100 pounds each. They used .243 rifles with scopes and got their animals at 200 yards.

Hunting pressure was heavy and the animals extremely

Red Cross to Deliver Yule Gifts in Viet Nam

Christmas gifts for American servicemen in Viet Nam may be delivered through Red Cross channels, the Winona County chapter said today.

The chapter said it has had inquiries from individuals and groups interested in sending packages for distribution among troops. Interest in this sort of giving has been stirred by demonstrations all over the country respecting administration policies in Viet Nam.

In addition to families which send gifts to their own servicemen, many persons have asked how to send articles to the troops generally.

Perishable items should not be sent, the Red Cross advises. On the recommended list are: Paperback books, toilet articles, razor blades, pre-sweetened powdered drinks and popcorn which can be popped in its container.

Recreational equipment also is in demand, says the Red Cross. Donations of the following:

Tech School Enrolls 560 Area Firemen

Training in firemanship has been provided 560 area volunteer firemen in 28 fireman-ship classes recently completed under the sponsorship of the Winona Area Vocational-Technical School and the state Department of Education, Thomas W. Raine, vocational school director, announced today.

Instructors for the series were Cleo L. Keiper and Bruce E. Johnstone of the Winona fire department. There were 379 certificates awarded men who had attended 75 percent or more of the sessions.

Each course met for four three-hour sessions and most of the men who received certificates attended the entire 12-hour training course. Course content was divided into three sections, each 12 hours in length.

Volunteer fire departments participating in Firemanship I training and the number enrolled were: Mabel, 18; Chatfield 19; Rollingstone, 17; Hokah, 27; Houston, 16; Dover, 17; Minnesota City, 25; St. Charles, 21; Harmony 22; Eltzen, 20; Goodview, 29 and Rushford, 27.

Departments participating in Firemanship II and the number enrolled were: Goodview, 22; Chatfield, 19; Houston, 13; Eltzen, 19; Rushford, 23; Minnesota City, 21; Hokah, 16; Rollingstone, 14; St. Charles, 15, and Harmony 16.

Volunteer firemen from these towns received Firemanship III sessions: La Crescent, 14; Goodhue, 25; Lake City, 20; Altura, 18; Caledonia, 26 and Spring Grove, 21.

Additional classes will be organized. Volunteer fire department chiefs are asked to contact Raine at the vocational of-ficers at Winona Senior High School and request the particular section needed.

More I-90 Bids Due on Tuesday

MADISON, Wis. — Five of 10 projects covered by bids to be opened Tuesday by the Wisconsin Highway Commission at Madison call for further development of Interstate 94 in Eau Claire and Jackson counties, amounting to six miles of grading and 10 structures.

The three Jackson County projects are as follows: Grading 2.619 miles of I-94 starting about .5 of a mile inside the village of Hixton, with the balance northwesterly toward Northfield, deadline 220 days. Two bridges in the Burton road - Hixton section spanning the Trempealeau River near Hixton, deadline 180 days. Two bridges in the Hixton interchange to carry the new interstate over Highway 98 and nearby railroad tracks. Deadline 250 days.

The two Eau Claire County projects are: Grading of 3.533 miles and installing two culverts about half way between Foster and the south county line, about one mile northwest and 2 1/2 miles southeast of a point where the interstate underpasses County K, deadline 220 days. Two bridges in the Foster-south county line section carrying a town road and County K over the interstate generally north of Osseo, deadline 180 days.

Lake Citian Gets Eagle Award

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — Thomas Carey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Carey, Lake City, received his Eagle Scout badge at a Troop 73 court of honor Monday evening in St. Mary's Catholic Church basement.

James Peterson was master of ceremonies. Present were Tony Kuntz, Red Wing, executive of the Cannon River District, Gamehaven Council, and Edwin Herman, Lake City, district committee chairman.

Kuntz administered the Eagle oath. Mrs. Carey pinned the badge on her son, who presented her with a long-stemmed rose. Mr. Carey presented Thomas the Eagle Scout certificate.

The Careys were introduced by Albert Hoffman, scoutmaster. The ceremony was preceded by a potluck supper at 6:30, with invocation by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Warren J. Ryan. Mike Myer advanced to first class; Mike Huettl to second, and Joe Black, Steve Fuchs, Joe Herron and David Peterson to tenderfoot. Tim Tibesar and John McKenzie received merit badges.

Dave McKenzie received the Eagle award last summer. Troop 73 is sponsored by St. Mary's Church.

Pay for Good Grades Scored

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Do you think parents should PAY their children for getting good grades? Somehow I can't seem to convince myself that it's right, but other parents do it and get results, so maybe I'm wrong. Our son needs some sort of motivation to do better in school. Richard has as much intelligence as any of his classmates who make the honor roll, yet he barely gets by and it doesn't seem to bother him. My husband thinks we should offer him money as an incentive. Richard is only 14, but he's saving for a car. Do you think $50 for every "A" he gets and $25 for every "B" is too much? RICHARD'S MOTHER

ABBY

It's all right to "reward" a child for a job well done — but "bribing" him for doing what he should do for nothing makes no sense at all. Mediocrity, when one can do better, calls for discipline.

DEAR ABBY: I work, and live alone. I get very tired of eating out all the time, so I frequently invite a friend or two over to enjoy a home-cooked dinner with me. I appreciate having someone offer to help me with the dishes afterwards, but how would you like it if your guest took the dish towel out of your hands and said, "Get out. I'm doing the work!"

There are two people who push me out of my own kitchen this way and it irritates me. Should I just go in the other room and sit down? Or should I say, "This is MY home, and if you want to HELP me, fine; otherwise YOU go in the other room. I'm staying." IRRITATED

DEAR IRRITATED: Your "helpers" mean well. They're just a trifle heavy-handed. Tell them if they want to "help," they're welcome, but YOU are in charge of K.P. in your own kitchen. And put some authority in your voice.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for a year. Before I was married I was a pretty sad case. (I guess you'd say I was "promiscuous.") My husband knew about this because I was going with him at the time. When we were first married, I lied to him a few times about where I was going. I really didn't cheat on him those times, but I was going with some girls I knew he didn't like. I've been 100 percent true to my husband since our marriage and always will be. Well, he found out I lied to him, and now he won't trust me.

Yesterday our telephone rang three times. It was the same person calling a wrong number. My husband was sure it was a man for me and I was trying to cover up, so he said, "Why don't you call your boy friend back and tell him I'll be gone all day tomorrow?" Abby, I love my husband and want him to believe me, but how can I when he's so unreasonable and suspicious? NOT TRUSTED

DEAR NOT: You earned your husband's distrust and now you will have to win back his confidence. This can be accomplished in only one way — performance. If you consistently tread the straight and narrow, in time your "bad" reputation will fade, and a better one will replace it. It can be done, but you must avoid not only evil, but the appearance of it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "M" AND "M": Goethe put it this way: "Love is an ideal thing, marriage a real thing; a confusion of the real with the ideal never goes unpunished." There is no perfection. Don't expect too much.

the Walt Disney film, "Beaver Valley," also are on the program.

Two racy new hardtops

A clean-sculptured new sport coupe with recessed rear window, and—for the first time — a 4-door Chevelle Sport Sedan. Pick from 12 racy-looking new Chevilles in all for '66.

Not only will you find more variety in the '66 Chevelle lineup, but even more of what makes a Chevelle a Chevelle.

Say you pick a new Malibu Sport Sedan and specify the new 220-hp V8. You've got yourself quite a machine.

Or pick a Malibu Sport Coupe, equip it with the new Strato-bucket front seats, and order the new 275-hp V8. You've got yourself even more machine.

Or maybe you'd like to pick a new black-grilled SS 396 Coupe or Convertible. (Standard engine is a Turbo-Jet 396 V8 with 325 hp. And there's also a 360-hp version you can specify.) Now you've got yourself the most.

Which '66 Chevelle for you? The answer to that covers a lot more ground than we can here. And that's where your Chevrolet dealer comes in.

To Develop Good Citizenship

(Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of Guest Editorials written by Winona civic, educational and religious leaders in connection with the observance of National Education Week, Nov. 7-13.)

By Harold S. Streater
Attorney at Law

IN ANCIENT times the word "citizen" meant "native" or "inhabitant" or "denizen", and the word was used primarily to identify the environs or place of origin of a person. Over the many centuries of development of political science, government and mores of the people of the earth an entirely new and different concept of citizenship has emerged. Today we necessarily attach to citizenship the meaning of membership in a political and national body with the attendant rights, duties and obligations which this membership entails. As citizens of our city, state and country, we all have rights and privileges derived from our citizenship in each of these political bodies. More important to the writer, however, are the duties or obligations which each citizen owes to his city, state, country and fellow citizens. The effective performance of our duties as citizens is essentially a question of education, for understanding is based upon interest, study and the practical application of what we have learned.

In this field of education for citizenship, I believe our secondary schools and colleges have made great strides. The interest of our present students in government is greater than ever before, and with interest comes learning and comprehension. Our young people today realize that as adults they have not only the privilege but also the duty to participate in government, not by the rather simple exercise of the ballot, but by becoming affiliated with civic groups and political parties, or by seeking elective or appointive office, so that as citizens they will actively participate in our government and in the framing of its policies.

I BELIEVE OUR teachers have realized that effective citizenship is generated by the promotion of interest in political affairs and that our high school graduates are emerging today with something more than the bare knowledge of the structures of our government. The great majority of these young people are looking forward to active participation in some manner in governing themselves. A fine recent example of this is the interest generated, displayed and put into practical effect by the members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of this city with regard to a complete examination and study of our municipal government. The emphasis of the schools upon attendance at City Council and board meetings, tours of the state capitol and the mock legislatures of the American Legion and YMCA all contribute to this effort.

The citizens of Winona today are faced with many difficult but intensely interesting problems. Urban renewal, charter reform, equitable and efficient taxation, are but a few of these problems. The governing body of our city must welcome the assistance of any interested and knowledgeable citizen who wishes, for no more reason than that he is a good citizen, to aid in the efficient administration of our government and the solution of its problems. The achievement by our schools of promoting interest in government in the students, and thereby providing the impetus for learning and understanding of these problems, is to the writer the most significant advance in education achieved in the past two decades. Each year the problems of administration of local, state and national government become more complex, and the effective solution of these problems more difficult.

EDUCATION OF our citizens is the sole means at hand to meet these problems and our educators are to be commended that in this year 1965 our schools are turning out young adults with the equipment, the energy and the inclination to meet these tests. Each citizen with interest in his community and with the energy to study, learn and understand the problems, and the diligence to do something about them by personal activity, is making a contribution both to himself and to his fellow citizen which can have the result of the effective and practical solution of our problems.

Nothing Served By Senseless 'Protest'

WHAT CAN one say of a suicide? In the case of Norman R. Morrison, an official of the Society of Friends who set himself afire in front of the Pentagon, the feeling is of pity at a temporary derangement.

The Quakers have a long and honorable tradition in the religious and social history of the United States. They helped to found this country. It is astonishing to find among them expressions of condemnation for Mr. Morrison's self-immolation.

VIOLENCE TO SELF is, after all, violence and not pacifism. Nothing at all was served by this senseless "protest" over U.S. policy in Viet Nam. Still less that is of value will be realized by crediting to the cause of peace a plain act of folly.

But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you. —Romans 8:11.

Aluminum Firm Profits Studied

By DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — What is more important today — the total amount of profit made by a company after taxes or the rate of dividends paid to its stockholders? Indeed, which is more relevant — how large a number of individuals a company employs or how high a wage rate is paid to each employee? It has become popular for political reasons to denounce price increases and point to "big profits" — as if to say, "They're making big money, so their prices shouldn't be raised."

The question before the country today, however, is not how much total profits the aluminum companies or the units in any other industry have been making, but what dividends they earn as wages for their stockholders. What, in truth, is the rate of return? Unless the wages of capital are adequate, public confidence tends to break down and the whole economic system is impaired.

The price of aluminum has recently been raised. But it is still below what it was in 1960. Yet the prices of every other metal — copper, lead, zinc, tin and steel — are higher than in 1960. Aluminum stands alone, not only with the lowest prices but with the lowest return on money invested.

TAKING THE period of 1955 to 1957 as a measure of sustained economic activity at high levels, the profits of the three big aluminum companies, amounted to 9.7 percent of sales. But in 1960, this had dropped to 5.1 percent. It now has risen to 6.5 percent, but still is considerably below the figure of the 1955-57 base period.

When profits are ranked on the basis of a percentage of equity, the three big aluminum companies in the period 1955 to 1957 had a 15.1 percent return on their money. This had dropped down to 5.9 percent in 1960, and is still only 8.8 percent in 1965.

Contrasting with this profits as the percent of equity for all manufacturing companies, the figure for 1955 to 1957 was 11.7 percent and in 1960 had gone up to 12.8 percent. So aluminum is worse off than industry in general.

To sum up, the return on investment in the aluminum industry, despite some improvement since 1960, is still considerably lower than the return in manufacturing as a whole. Certainly, as the chairman of the president's council of economic advisers says, there has been a gain in profits in 1965 as compared with preceding years. But the result is still much lower than investors are entitled to expect for the use of their money.

DIVIDENDS, FOR instance, paid by the three big companies in aluminum are up only 12 percent since 1960, whereas the rise in dividends for all manufacturing industries has been 46 percent.

Labor costs are significant, too. In aluminum, the rise last June was 4.1 percent according to administration economists. It was higher than in the other metal industries. These same economists now ignore such figures and claim that the wage rise was only about 3.5 percent and hence was within the "guideline" pattern. The administration evidently has taken the same facts regarding wages and reached whatever conclusions are in line with the political needs of the hour.

It seems easy to "brainwash" the American people, as has been done in the last few days by planted speeches and statements given out by senators enlisted by the administration for its publicity drive.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Russ Immigrant Who Made Good in U.S. Bucks LBJ

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — This is the story of an American, born in Russia, whose adopted country gave him such opportunities that he became many times a millionaire, but who is now howling his head off because the government that helped him wants to hold down the price of aluminum.

It's the story of Leo Harvey, head of Harvey Aluminum. With it goes the story of his family which also received great benefits from the United States of America. It's a story not unlike that of the other aluminum companies, most of which were put in business by Uncle Sam, loaned money by him to build their factories, given a guaranteed price, plus government contracts.

Yet they are now squawking because the government which befriended them is selling part of its stockpile to keep aluminum prices down.

LEO HARVEY, an energetic Russian immigrant, began to make big money on munitions contracts during the last war. At that time the Navy investigated and stopped his brother, Herbert Harvey, from sneaking off-sized 20-mm shells past Navy inspectors. But the Navy didn't prosecute. And the Harvey family went on to more government contracts and bigger profits. The family also went on into politics, cosying up to both political parties and contributing substantially to each.

On the Republican side, the Harveys hired Tom Dewey, twice GOP candidate for president. On the Democratic side, Mrs. Carmine Warschaw, daughter of Leo, has been Southern California chairman while her brother Lawrence was once candidate to be Democratic national committee man from California.

However, it was under the Republicans that the Harveys got some of their juiciest help from the generous government which gave them a haven.

In 1955, Tom Dewey sent his law associate, James F. Nickerson, to Washington to persuade Eisenhower officials to give the Harveys a heads-they-win, tails-the-government-loses contract. The Harveys got an agreement to sell aluminum to the government for five years, plus a certificate of tax amortization on their new plant, plus an agreement that a power line would be built from the Dalles, Ore., to Bonneville to bring in cheap government power.

THE POWER line was to cost Uncle Sam $2,200,000. But at the last minute watchful Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., knocked the item out.

On top of this, the government dug a 15-foot barge channel up the Columbia River to the Harvey Aluminum plant at the Dalles, a channel which chiefly benefits the Harveys.

At that time, the government had a staggering stockpile of 785,000 tons of aluminum. Uncle Sam needed more aluminum like he needed a hole in his head. Despite this, Tom Dewey's law firm had managed to persuade the government to buy 200,000 tons of aluminum from the Harveys to add to the stockpile. Dewey, according to testimony before Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., did this by calling on Sherman Adams, then No. 2 man in the White House, who in turn called Ed Mansure, then head of General Services and in charge of stockpiles. Instructions were given to buy the 200,000 tons of aluminum.

This is the same Harvey Aluminum which now complains when the United States government sells the same amount of aluminum which it once purchased from Harvey — 200,000 tons — after Harvey and other members of the aluminum industry had increased prices.

THIS, HOWEVER, is only part of the story of the Russian immigrant and his family and how they have benefited from a kindly Uncle Sam.

The Harveys own the Harvey building at 417 S. Hill St., Los Angeles, where up until the spring of this year no minorities were employed and where a strict non-union policy was enforced.

President Johnson is well known for both his championship of minorities and his friendly policy toward labor unions. Nevertheless the Johnson administration rents office space from the Harveys for the Agriculture Department, the GSA, the Department of HEW, Internal Revenue, the Housing and Home Finance Agency, Treasury, Post Office Department and the Social Security Administration.

This is all rented from the company which last week complained because the government was trying to keep aluminum prices down.

THE HARVEY family also owns the building at 909 S. Broadway in Los Angeles, where they follow the same policy on minority races and unions. While the federal government rents no office space there, Gov. Pat Brown, a close friend of President Johnson and in sympathy with him on keeping prices down, does rent space for the Colorado River Board and the California Division of Water Resources.

The state of California also rents space in the Harvey building on Hill Street, for its Department of Rehabilitation, and garages all its cars connected with narcotic cases in that building.

In the Virgin Islands, Harvey Aluminum recently persuaded Secretary of the Interior Udall and Gov. Ralph Paley to OK the purchase of a large tract of land on St. Croix for bauxite development, despite the opposition of many Virgin Islands residents who wanted to keep that scenic area as a non-industrialized tourist mecca.

The story of some of the other aluminum companies and the concessions they got from a kindly government which they are now criticizing for holding aluminum prices will follow in another column.

PRAYER ANSWER

NEW YORK (AP) — An estimated 13,000 people, gathered in the World's Fair's Singer Bowl for observance of "Christian Service Day," heard a Christian Science lecturer, Arnold H. Exo of Chicago, assert that the world's modern difficulties and needs can be resolved only through individual prayer.

Letters to The Editor

(Editor's Note: Letters must be temperate, of reasonable length and signed by the writer. Bona fide names of all letter-writers will be published. No religious, medical or personal controversies are acceptable.)

Writer Will Not "Back Down" on Position

To the Editor:

I am taking this opportunity to reply to the letter which appeared in the Daily News last week which attempted to explain away my strong criticism of the Neighborhood Youth Corps as to how this program had been conducted in Buffalo, Pepin and Trempealeau counties during the past summer. The long delay of an answer to my letter of Oct. 1 is cause for some mystery.

When I wrote the article published last month, I made it perfectly explicit that I was not questioning the personal motives or the personal integrity of any one individual, workman or administrator, who had taken part in the summer youth corps project. However, certain persons in the area had decided that they could and would read their own, and desired meanings into my words. They came up with the false impression that I was merely trying through my letter to harm the reputation, if not the possible future political ambitions of an area administrator of the youth corps.

Such opinions of my intentions are completely false; so ridiculous as a matter of fact that I now ask why Mr. Lucas insinuated that there were darkly hidden motives behind my honest criticism of the Neighborhood Youth Corps administered in the three counties by Charles Zepp.

Figures relating the number of persons employed in the youth corps project and the wages paid to them were taken from a story which was printed on the front page of the Sept. 16 issue of the Buffalo County Journal. It had been reported in that article that $122,497.88 had been spent by the Neighborhood Youth Corps in the three counties over a five-month period. The 313 workmen received $99,853.44; the "29 administrators" were paid $22,644.25. I believe the information in the Journal was correct.

There was no response to my charge that officials involved in the youth corps program received high monthly salaries paid from federal "poverty" funds. That is the only logical conclusion one can reach after studying the Journal's article. Similar figures appeared in other area publications.

I shall not back down from the position which I have assumed. If any individual or individuals desire to distort my opinions then I shall call upon that person or persons to meet with me in public debate on any day, time, and at any place of their choosing whereupon this issue might be settled once and for all.

I merely sought last Oct. 1 to express my feelings on a matter which caused me great concern and anger. I felt then, as I feel now that it is morally wrong for the federal, or for any level of government to tax the people taking their hard earned dollars and then placing those dollars in the palms of those citizens who are not in financial need. Only the real needy should receive aid from the government, and I am willing that the real needy should receive government assistance. However, the rest of us, the vast majority of Americans, who have the ability and the means, have the obligation to care for our own human needs as best as possible.

That is my central theme of this entire controversy. I believe that a majority of the readers agree with me on this point; thus answering an earlier question of mine: Who is to blame? Lance A. Lamphere Nelson, Wis.

Consult Expert on Skin Ills

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have several skin problems. The skin is very oily. I also have blackheads and bumps under the skin. They are more like small boils.

Should I take vitamins or something for my blood? I had boils when I was a teen-ager, but my skin got better in my 20s, and I don't see why I should have this trouble now.

I know what foods I can eat and what I can't — fresh fruit of any kind, eggs, chocolate, nuts, etc. Besides this I have brown spots on my face. Can you help me bleach them out without bleach cream which I cannot use?

I wash my face twice a day with oatmeal soap, and put alcohol on it at night. I hope you can help me. — MRS. W.J.

To such degree as I can, I try to offer help on skin problems, but most skin conditions have to be seen to be identified accurately.

The foregoing letter is fairly typical of quite a few that I get — and have to leave unanswered, because there is no universal remedy for complexion troubles, any more than there is any single medicine that "is good for anything that ails you."

I COULD make any number of suggestions to you, Mrs. W.J., but you would waste time and money trying them, and probably get little or no benefit. Why? Because without seeing you, I have no way of guessing what the real trouble is, and if I don't know the trouble I certainly can't guess at the right approach.

For one thing, what are those "bumps"? Are they acne? Does the oily skin contribute to them? Do you have a chronic, low-grade staph infection stemming from your teen-age boils? Or are the "bumps" something entirely different?

Many people have learned to see their doctor when they detect suspicious symptoms. Yet some don't often do so when one particular organ is involved. The organ? The skin!

OH, YES, the skin is an organ, the largest in the body. It not only covers a considerable area, but weighs, all told, somewhere around 10 or a dozen pounds.

Yet folks seem disinclined to get expert diagnosis, and instead fuss around with soaps, creams, lotions, and even "blood purifiers" which are a total waste of time.

Maybe it's our fault for not having emphasized this. After all, complexion troubles aren't often of severe peril to general health or life. Still a considerable variety of blemishes can be readily identified by a skin specialist.

So instead of relying on the oatmeal soap, alcohol rinses and other home remedies, go to a dermatologist and find out (a) what your troubles really are; (b) whether any of the things you are doing can help, or whether they may even be harmful; and (c) what you CAN do that will improve the health of your skin.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is dizziness a symptom or diabetes? — MRS. D. J.

Dizzy spells are a symptom of so many things that I wouldn't single out diabetes. Yes, someone who has diabetes and doesn't know it might have such spells.

25th Anniversary of Armistice Day Storm 'When the Winds of Hell Were Loose'

(Editor's Note: The most tragic autumn storm in Midwest history took place 25 years ago, on Armistice Day, 1940. More than 30 hunters died in Mississippi River sloughs and marshes in the immediate Winona area. Throughout the Midwest, the storm's death toll topped 100.

Everyone in the Winona area 40 years old or older who was here in 1940 must have vivid memories of that tragic day.

We received the first reports of the storm's severity about 8 p.m. on that horrible night and drove through swirling snow to the Louis Stanz landing near Minnesota City where some of the first dead were brought in.

As a "stringer" for The Milwaukee Journal, we telephoned the story to the state editor there and the following morning took the Journal's outdoor editor, the late Gordon MacQuarrie, on a tour of the area and with us while we interviewed storm victims who got out alive.

Here is his epic story, titled "When the Winds of Hell Were Loose..."

WINONA, Minn. — The winds of hell were loose on the Mississippi Armistice Day and night.

They came across the prairie, from the north and west, a mighty, freezing force. They charged down from the high river bluffs to the placid stream below and reached with deadly fingers for the life that beat beneath the canvas jackets of hundreds of duck hunters.

People will tell of this for years to come. They will recall how dad and brother were saved. The men who came through it alive together will look at each other with new understanding, as is the way with those who have seen death brush them closely. And eventually they will look back upon it as "the year of the big wind." To such a full phrase will come what now seems to be the greatest hunting season disaster in northwest history, and maybe the greatest in the history of the country.

The dead in this area, 50 miles up and down the river will likely come to 30.

They came, those winds, with little warning of their intensity. After a poor duck hunting season along the Mississippi, hunters welcomed the wrath from the west. They liked it in its early stages. They tossed out their decoys and said: "Let it blow, that's what we've been waiting for." They stationed themselves in tiny sand pits and boggy islands, and the ducks came with the blast, riding it bewildered and headlong.

"We could have gotten our limit easily," said a man.

Tuesday night, on Louis Stanz' boat livery dock, a few miles out of town, lay 50 skiffs. The dock was snow covered and deserted. Seven dead ducks, frozen stiff, lay there, forgotten, on the dock where the river goes by. The people who crowded to the dock all day Tuesday had other things to think of. Up the bank from the dock Tuesday came five dead men.

The wind did it, the furious wind that pierced any clothing, that locked onboard engines in sheaths of ice, that froze on faces and hands and clothing, so that survivors cracked when they got to safety and said their prayers.

Mother Nature caught hundreds of duck hunters on the Armistice holiday. She lured them out to the river and the marshes with her fine, whooping wind and when she got them there, she froze them like muskrats in traps. She promised ducks in the wind. They came, all right, but by that time the duck hunters were playing a bigger game with the wind, and their lives were the stake.

By that time men along the Mississippi were drowning and freezing. The ducks came and men died. They died underneath upturned skiffs as the blast sought them out on boggy, unprotected islands; they died trying to light fires and jumping and sparring to keep warm; they died sitting in skiffs. They died standing in river water to their hips, awaiting help; they died trying to help each other. A hundred tales of heroism will be told, long after the funerals are over.

Over in Winona General Hospital Tuesday night lay Gerald Tarras, 17, a survivor. He is a big boy, nearly six feet, and strong. He had to be to live. He saw his father, his brother and his friend die. He has not yet come to a full realization of what has happened.

Young Tarras, his head buried in a pillow, his frost blistered hands clutching nervously at the bedspread, told part of the story hastily.

"We went out about 10 in the morning, the four of us," he said. "It was raining and warm. The wind came at noon. We began to worry. My father said we'd better go back. It got fierce. Then Bill Werneck died. He was cold. We boxed each other to keep warm. Bill died. I was holding him. He went 'O-h-h-h' and he was gone."

"We were standing in water. We had a black Labrador dog with us. My brother Ray died next. I knew he was dead. He was cold. An airplane flew over and I moved my arm. It saw us. Then my father died. They took me off in the government tug and gave me some coffee. They gave me some whisky."

In a Winona restaurant sat Max Conrad, the aviator, Tuesday night, sipping hot coffee with Bobby Bean, his assistant. He told his story very badly, for he is a modest man.

Conrad took a Cub training plane with a top speed of 75 miles an hour and led the government tug Throckmorton and other rescue boats to marooned hunters on the river. He flew all day, sometimes with Bean, sometimes alone.

He would fly his plane repeatedly over a spot where hunters were marooned, and the rescue boats would know where to go. He would toss out five gallon cans containing sandwiches, whisky and cigars. He would open the door of his plane and, with the motor cut, shout down to the men below:

"Hang on, help is coming."

He would route the little plane time after

"FATAL ARMISTICE" . . . This is Ernie Baudhuin's famous painting, a memorial to the tragic Armistice Day storm of 1940. Titled "Fatal Armistice — When the Ducks Came and Men Died", hundreds of prints time through channels over which marooned hunters could follow in skiffs.

Harold Eastman of Winona, a safety engineer for a utility company, told Conrad's story and his own better.

"I was hunting with R. J. Rice and Richard Guelzer Monday afternoon," Eastman related. "The wind caught me on a bog. The oarlock broke. Dick said: 'We camp here.' We turned up the skiff for a windbreak and lit a fire."

"At 9:30 a.m. Tuesday we heard a plane. We fired our guns. The plane did not see us. At noon the plane saw us. It was Conrad. I know him. He saved our lives."

"Conrad yelled down at us from the open door of the plane: 'Sit tight; we will get you out of here.' In a few minutes he was back with a tin of food and cigars and dropped it. He kept flying over us, then hollered down: 'Start out and go in the direction I am.'"

"We took our shotguns and started. Conrad shouted, 'Leave your guns and take the skiff.' We did. We broke through ice several times, then we would hang onto the skiff and work it along to new ice. The tug Throckmorton picked us up. Conrad saved our lives."

Conrad said the river lowlands were bad because pan ice piled upon banks and islands, so skiffs could not get through. He said he saw dogs alone abandoned on boggy islands. He said:

"The guys who used their heads built windbreaks with their skiffs and then built fires." He added that a lot of fellows "lost their heads."

He will not even guess at how many are dead. It will take days to find out.

Some time later, over at the Conrad home four small daughters, Judy, Jane, Betsy and Molly, said: "Daddy is a fine flier." He was sleeping hard then, for Wednesday he was to take up the patrol again, looking for skiffs and men, dead or alive.

technological breakdown of modern times.

The interconnected system is the epitome of sophisticated technology. It operates almost automatically. Because its parts were so united, they dropped all together. Like a tree felled by an ax.

This system is part of a nationwide power grid in which 97 per cent of the electric industry's generating capacity is joined in five large networks.

The U.S. government, mindful that the nation's electricity needs have doubled every 10 years for the past 80 years, has encouraged and prodded utilities to intertie in this manner.

Today government and utility engineers in Canada and the United States are trying to find out how to keep the system from falling again and spreading chaos.

ETTRICK PATIENTS
ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — Miss Margaret Harmon who had been hospitalized at La Crosse, returned there for further treatment. Mrs. Henry Solberg is recuperating from surgery at Tri-County Memorial Hospital, Whitehall. Albert Johnson, elderly Tappan coiffeur man who recently sold his property, is hospitalized at La Crosse.

Some Widows File for Early Social Security

Many 60- and 61-year-old widows have applied for reduced widows' benefits since the end of July when President Johnson signed the 1965 social security amendments into law, Victor E. Bertel, social security district manager in Winona, Minn., reported today.

"But we think more should have applied than did," Bertel continued. "And we are concerned that those widows who haven't applied possibly are not aware of the change in the law."

Widows can now choose to start their monthly payments as early as 60, but in a reduced amount. Social security benefits are not automatic; an application has to be filed.

Widows who choose to take their payments before 62 will receive monthly benefits at a slightly reduced rate from what they would have received at 62, but they will get payments for a longer period of time. They will receive about the same total amount of benefits either way, Bertel said.

The district office is at 358 E. Sarnia St.

Mother Killed by Car, Father Dies

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP) — Three children who lost their mother seven weeks ago in an auto accident were orphaned Wednesday when their father was killed by electric shock while working atop a power pole.

The father, Oscar Y. Fields, 30, died instantly when he touched a live wire carrying 7,000 volts. His wife, Ruby, was killed Sept. 16 when her car collided with a tractor-trailer truck

Some Teeners Get Licenses At Age of 16

ST. PAUL (AP) — The attorney general's office said Wednesday that "farm work" restrictions imposed on some teen-age drivers are canceled at age 16, thus giving the youths fully valid licenses.

Normally, teen-agers cannot become licensed drivers until age 16. However, licenses can be issued at age 15 to rural youths to perform farm errands.

These restricted licenses also can be marked to permit a farm youth to ride a motor scooter.

Atty. Gen. Robert Mattson ruled that the restrictions are cancelled automatically at age 16, and that the permit then becomes a full-fledged driver license.

G. A. Hatfield, state driver licensing director, said there has been some confusion over farm work permits and others which permit only the use of motor scooters.

A license restricted to farm work means that the youth has passed his driving test in a car and merely lacks a year of age to qualify for a full license, Hatfield said.

Motor scooter licenses also can be issued at age 15, but these involve only a driver test taken on a scooter and are not to be used for automobile driving, Hatfield added.

A license restricted to scooters alone, he said, does not cancel the restriction at age 16.

The question to the attorney general was raised by Bob B. Ebbesen, Redwood County attorney.

Draft Dropouts, Hershey Suggests

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, has suggested that high school dropouts be placed in the armed services.

"They've got to be some place where they can't drop out," he said Wednesday. "We've got to help these young people become team players in our democracy, or we won't have one."

Hershey visited the state Selective Service headquarters and later addressed the city Chamber of Commerce.

He estimated the draft rate will stay at about 36,000 men a month nationally.

Auto Workers Sending Hospital to Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union is sending a fully equipped pediatric clinic and three tons of food and medical supplies to South Viet Nam.

Walter Routhier, president of the AFL-CIO union, said the $250,000 shipment will allow South Vietnamese trade unions to establish a children's clinic.

Electricity Goes The Wrong Way

TORONTO (AP) — The electricity that browns your toast, cooks your dinner or sends you home on subways or streetcars went the wrong way Tuesday night. The result affected 30 million people in Canada and the United States.

Officials of the publicly-owned Ontario Hydroelectric Power Commission, at a candle-lit interview during three successive blackouts in Toronto, told this version of how it happened:

At around 5:15 p.m., when wives were getting supper and commuters in southeastern Ontario and along the U.S. Atlantic seaboard were starting home — there was what Consolidated Edison in New York called "an electrical disturbance" somewhere in northern New York.

A complex of interlocking power lines extends from Quebec through Ontario to power companies of New York State, and from there south to the Gulf of Mexico and west to Montana.

This interconnection complex, called a grid, carries electric power from the rivers of northern Quebec and Ontario, from steam-operated power plants in Ontario and hydroelectric plants nestling on both sides of the Niagara River and in New York State. Power is traded back and forth among the companies, and regions as demand rises and falls.

The system is called CANUSE, or Canada-United States-Eastern interconnection. When one link in the system needs power, it draws it from another.

Tuesday evening power was moving into Ontario through Niagara Falls from Upstate New York when something happened in a high-voltage line south of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Then, Ontario hydro officials said, "a surge of electricity" sent power flowing into the system at Cornwall, Ont., in the opposite direction to the normal flow at that hour. Unchecked, this could have caused enormous damage to distribution equipment.

Technicians at the Richview control center in suburban Toronto spotted the reversal and pulled switches that isolated southern and eastern Ontario from the interlocking grid.

That's when the power was cut off from various centers in Ontario. The blackout lasted from five minutes to two hours in some places because it takes time for generating units that are in reserve to build up to the power demand.

The surge of power from New York entered the Canadian system at Cornwall through an interconnection, flashed across the southern Ontario network and back into New York through an interconnection at Niagara Falls, officials said.

When Ontario was disconnected from the grid, steam-powered generating systems near Toronto and Windsor, Ont., were put into operation to produce needed power.

Ironically, the interlocking power grid designed to assure a supply of electricity in an emergency helped spread the blackout over a huge area, including all of New York City. About one-fifth of the U.S. population was affected.

The blackout spread could not have occurred 20 years ago when power lines were not so united. The lines today are joined as tightly as telephone lines.

In New York a spokesman for Consolidated Edison Corp., said New York City might have been spared if that utility could voluntarily have released itself immediately from the interconnection.

The blackout result was, by many standards, the greatest

Misterssippis, Award Winners, Will Sing Here in SPEBSQSA Concert

Winona's own Misterssippis, who will be featured in the 10th Anniversary Parade of Harmony here Dec. 4, won first place in the Land O'Lakes District convention and quartet competition Saturday at Appleton, Wis.

THE FOURSOME of male singers of the local chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., was reorganized this last summer. Members are Willard Adank, tenor; Bruce Odell, lead; David Broker, baritone, and Michael Hengel, bass. This is the first time any quartet from Winona has won in the district competition and is considered a great honor for the Winona Chapter.

The Dec. 4 concert will be held in Winona Senior High School auditorium, beginning at 8:01 p.m.

MR. ADANK, president of Winona SPEBSQSA, promises that the quartet serenade show "will be of the same high quality entertainment as in past annual concerts." He announces names of the guest quartets and chorus scheduled to aid in the entertainment.

Coming here from Park Ridge, Ill., to headline the show will be the Impostors. The Impostors, organized in 1962, but with many years of quartet singing experience, has a long list of credits. They won third place in last summer's International Quartet Competition. Said Mr. Adank, "The Impostors have been such a busy quartet that the Winona Chapter has had them booked for this engagement for over a year. It will be a real privilege to watch and listen to this great quartet."

THE FOR MOR Quartet, Madison, Wis., will also be one of the leading quartets on the show. Organized in 1949, the For Mor Quartet is the only quartet that doesn't use a pitch pipe, Mr. Adank said. During 18 years of traveling, they have sung in 38 states and several provinces of Canada.

The New Lisbon (Wis.) Chorus will be the guest chorus appearing on the Winona show. Last spring, during the beginning of the flood, the Winona Chorus traveled to New Lisbon to be on their show and invited them to appear here.

"Little did we believe at this time that it would be the New Lisbon Chorus that would win over the Winona Chorus in Class B competition by five points last May in Rochester!" said Mr. Adank.

TICKETS ARE on sale at Farrell's Barbershop on Main Street, both Ted Maier's Drugs, at Dorn's IGA grocery and from all members of the Winona chapter.

Pie and coffee will be served during the sale.

New Community Orchestra to Play Mozart Program With Guest Violist

A new community orchestra will try its wings publicly for the first time Sunday with all-Mozart concert at Somsen Hall, Winona State College.

Open to the public without charge, the performance begins at 8 p.m. Richmond McCue, orchestral music director at Winona State College, will conduct.

A FEATURE of the program is a double concerto for violin and viola, Mozart's "Duo Concertante."

A guest performer is Myra Janzen, violist, who will fly to Winona from the University of Indiana for the concert. Violinist will be Eugene Vuicich, string instructor at the College of Saint Teresa and concertmaster for the orchestra. Miss Janzen and Vuicich played the duo together last March in Rochester.

Miss Janzen is studying with William Primrose, Indiana University, on a graduate assistantship for a master's degree in viola. She received a bachelor of music education degree at Wichita (Kan.) State University in 1963, having obtained scholarships to both Tanglewood and Congress of Strings. She was elementary string instructor at Rochester, Minn., public schools two years.

The three-movement is considered the finest of Mozart's compositions in this medium. It opens with an allegro, almost symphonic in conception, contrasted to the singing style of the second theme. Other portions include the "Mannheim" crescendo, the string pizzicato and horn and oboe melodies in the first movement, an extended dialogue of violin and viola in the second movement and unusual entries of solo instruments in the final movement.

OPENING the concert will be the overture from "The Marriage of Figaro," first played to the indifferent reception of Viennese audiences in 1786. Mozart gave the orchestra more prominence in his operas, a departure with which audiences seemingly could not cope. His compositions also betrayed a profound exposure to the contrapuntal styles of J. S. Bach.

Present-day audiences find it difficult to understand the non-acceptance of Mozart's melodies by contemporary listeners.

In the same year, Mozart composed the "Prague Symphony," from which the Winona orchestra will perform the first movement. Alfred Einstein, a Mozart scholar, calls the development section "one of the greatest, most serious, most aggressive of all the composer's works."

THE ORCHESTRA, organized this fall, is the current revival of a tradition extending back to 1906. The first community symphony was organized then by Carl Ruggles, a concert violinist who moved here after touring America for several years. He came as a private violin teacher at the Mar d' Mar School of Music, located in the Choate building.

Shortly after arriving, Ruggles organized the orchestra which quickly became well known throughout the Midwest. Local businesses contributed $2,300 a year for the orchestra's budget. It had 40 members and was separate from the community band, also sponsored by business contributions.

Feakes-Reglin Vows Said at St. Matthew's

Miss Barbara Jean Reglin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lambert A. Reglin, 816 W. Broadway, became the bride of Bert R. Feakes, son of Mrs. Bert A. Feakes, Motley, Minn., and the late Mr. Feakes, Oct. 30 at St. Matthew's Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The Rev. A. L. Mennicke performed the ceremony. Mrs. Gerald Thaldorf was organist and Miss Jane Hille, soloist.

MISS CAROL MEYER was the bride's personal attendant. Miss Mary Reglin, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Mrs. Kenneth Bench, sister of the bride, bridesmaid. Miss Cindy Bench was flower girl and Marvin Feakes Jr., ring bearer.

Marvin Feakes, Fessenden, N. D., brother of the groom, was best man; Harvin Christen, groomsmen, and Kenneth Bench and Charles German, ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of satin brocade with a princess bodice, sabrina neckline, long sleeves and bell-shaped skirt with a detachable chapel train. Her silk illusion veil was held by a crown of pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses.

HER ATTENDANTS wore deep-pink crepe, floor-length dresses with empire waistlines, scoop necklines and short sleeves. Their crowns held maline veils and they carried bouquets of long-stemmed pink roses. The flower girl's dress was similar to the bridesmaid's and she carried a basket of pink and white mums.

The bride's mother wore a green knit suit and the groom's mother a wine-colored dress. Both had corsages of pink rose buds.

A reception was held at the American Legion Club. Assisting were the Misses June Garrison, Ruth Smedstad, Judy Kunert, Ruth Siebenaler and Karen Knoppe and Mrs. Roxy Cordes and Mrs. Kenneth Salway.

Following a trip to the Black Hills and Yellowstone National Park, the newlyweds are at home at Chester Heights Trailer Ct., Rochester.

The bride is a graduate of Winona Senior High School and was formerly employed by the Winona County auditor. Her husband works for Lystad's Extremator Co. Inc., Rochester.

A prenuptial shower was given by Mrs. Roxy Cordes and another by Mrs. Kenneth Bench and Miss Mary Reglin at the latter's home.

Government Topic By AAUW Members

The American Association of University Women will hear Henry Hull, assistant professor of history at Winona State College, speak on "Framing of the United States Constitution" Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Gildemeister Hall, Winona State College. He will discuss the need of early American colonists for a bill of rights.

Topic for the evening is "Law and Aspect of Government." Miss Maureen VanHeerden is topic chairman. Prospective by-law changes will be announced. No reservations are needed to attend.

Dr. Margaret Boddy will lead a discussion of the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre plays at Gildemeister Hall Nov. 22 at 7:15 p.m. "Education, an Antidote to Poverty" will be the topic of discussion Nov. 23 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Miss Pauline Uttinger. Mrs. John Breitlow is topic chairman.

Ronald Schreiber, Sophie Sobczak Exchange Vows

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—Miss Sophie Marie Sobczak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Sobczak, became the bride of Ronald Schreiber, son of Mrs. Helen Schreiber and the late Oscar Schreiber, Oct. 30 at the American Lutheran Church.

The Rev. Howard Benson heard their vows. Miss Judy Wiemer, organist, accompanied Mrs. Roger Tamke, soloist.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of lace and peau de sole. The fitted lace bodice was styled with long sleeves and a rounded neckline. The skirt front was accented with lace ruffles and the chapel train fell from soft pleats at the back. A high tiara crown, highlighted with cultured pearls, held her veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

MRS. KAY Humphrey was matron of honor and the bride's sister, Miss Stella Sobczak, bridesmaid. They wore floor-length gowns of royal blue peau de sole with fitted bodices, three-quarter-length sleeves and shaped skirts. They carried cascade bouquets of blue and white carnations.

David Schreiber, brother of the groom, was best man and Adrian Sossalla, groomsmen. The latter is of Independence. Robert Schreiber, brother of the groom, and Orlen Erickson Jr. were ushers.

The bride and groom's mothers wore royal blue dresses and had corsages of pink carnations.

A dinner and reception were held at the Arcadia Country Club. Music for dancing was furnished by Chester Rossa's Arcadia Ramblers.

The bride attended Arcadia High School and is employed at Arcadia Manufacturing Co. The groom is a graduate of Arcadia High School and is employed as a painter for the Haines Decorating Co. here.

The newlyweds were honored at a prenuptial shower at the Arcadia Country Club.

They will live at 141 Harrison St. here.

John Saverinskis Honored on 50th At Independence

INDEPENDENCE, Wis. (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. John Saverinskis were honored on their golden wedding anniversary Sunday with a Mass of Thanksgiving at St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, where they were married Nov. 22, 1915. They were ushered in by a miniature bride and groom while the senior choir sang a Polish hymn. About 400 attended a dinner at Club 186. Guests were from this area as well as Staples, Minn., and Kimberly, Wis.

MR. SAVERINSKI worked for the Green Bay and Western Railroad for several years prior to farming in Wickham Valley. The following 20 years he farmed in the Fox Ridge area. He was employed by the Trempealeau County Highway Department until he retired in 1962. He and his wife then moved here where they still reside.

Their seven children are: Mrs. Elmer (Genevieve) Haggenbarth, Mrs. Clarence (Agnes) Dubiel Sr., Mrs. Dominic (Celia) Killian, Adolph and Alphonse, all of Independence; Mrs. Alphonse (Blanche) Killian, Blair, and Mrs. Richard (Pelchie) Rathki, Eau Claire, Wis. A daughter, Mrs. John (Felia) Kokott, died in 1960. There are 12 grandchildren.

Fun Night Set At YMCA for 7th Graders

A Fun Night for all Winona seventh grade students will be held Friday from 7:30 to 9:30 at the YMCA, according to Larry Schiller, youth work secretary.

This is the first such event of the year and is open to boys and girls in the area who are in the seventh grade. Activities will include basketball, volleyball, badminton, use of the trampoline, swimming, and use of two game rooms equipped with pool tables, ping pong tables, a bumper pool game and other games. Seventh graders do not dance at YMCA events. Dress for the evening calls for leisure clothes and swim suits in the pool. The Fun Night will be chaperoned by parents. A small admission fee will be charged.

CALEDONIA SUPPER

CALEDONIA, Minn.—A public supper will be served at the Sheldon Community Center Saturday starting at 6 p.m. The menu includes hot dishes, rolls, salads, pies and coffee.

Legion Auxiliary Schedules Nov. 18 Public Card Party

A card party, open to the public, will be held Nov. 18 at 8 p.m. at the Legion Memorial Club, under the sponsorship of the American Legion Auxiliary. It was announced Tuesday evening at a meeting of the auxiliary.

MRS. L. E. ROSELE, chairman of the arrangements committee said that bridge, 500 and schafskopf will be played, as well as other games that foursomes wish to play. A prize will be given at each table and coffee and refreshments will be served.

Proceeds will be used for auxiliary programs of community service, child welfare and Americanism. There will be an advance sale of tickets and tickets also will be sold at the door. On Mrs. Rosele's committee are Mrs. Duncan Green and Mrs. Alvin Beeman. The committee suggests that women planning to attend make up their own tables, although this is not necessary.

In other business, certificates of commendation from the State of Minnesota Department of Public Welfare, for volunteer service at the Crippled Children Services Field Clinics, were awarded to the Mrs. R. Burr Mann, Donald V. Gray, Roy Haake, Herbert Honer, Donald Burt, Darrel Nowlan, Arthur Dorn, H. S. Dresser, Judd Fredericksen, George Goodreid, Beeman, S. W. Mann, LeRoy Roth, Arthur Steffes, W. J. Thuro, John Timm and Earl Toye and Miss Eleanor O'Meara.

MRS. GRAY reported on the Child Welfare meeting at St. Charles, Minn., Oct. 30 and on the unit membership drive. She said 211 of the 271 quota has been attained.

Mrs. Adolph Bremer, first vice president, presiding in the absence of the president, Mrs. Robert Thaldorf, announced upcoming social events; A poultry party, Nov. 12; the semi-formal "15 party", Nov. 27; the post-auxiliary Christmas meeting and dinner, Dec. 14; and the annual Children's Christmas party, Dec. 17.

Members were reminded to give their trading stamp donations, which will be used at the Nov. 18 card party, to Mrs. Rosele, and to cooperate with the post in a dish benefit being planned.

Leonard Mercers Feted by Children On Golden Year

GILMANTON, Wis. (Special) — The children of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Mercer, Alma Rt. 2, were hosts when their parents celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday afternoon at the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Musical selections were presented by members of the congregation and lunch was served by the WLCS, of which Mrs. Mercer is a member.

THE HONORED couple has nine children. Present Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Mercer, Arkansas, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Seyffer and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mercer, all of Pepin; Mr. and Mrs. Clark Mercer, Arlington, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wilhelmy, South St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Najmon, Pine City, Minn.; and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mercer, Byron, Minn. Their four great-grandchildren attended. Two sons, Elden, Pepin, and Vernon, Kenosha, Wis., were unable to attend.

An added surprise came Sunday evening when neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Mercer chartered the honored couple was married Nov. 6, 1915 in St. Paul. They have lived on a farm near Alma for 13 years. Prior to that they farmed in Pierce and Pepin counties.

BENEFIT GAMES PARTY

DODGE, Wis. (Special)—The Sisters of St. Joseph Convent, Sacred Heart Parish, are sponsoring an evening of games and a card party in the Sacred Heart Church Hall Sunday at 8 p.m. Lunch will be served. Proceeds go to the Motherhouse of St. Joseph Convent, Stevens Point, Wis., for their building fund.

Viet Nam, Mrs. R. H. Watkins presented a reading on the background of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" completing it with the recitation of the verses of the hymn, with members joining in singing the chorus.

The Swiss-steak dinner which preceded the business meeting was cooked for the auxiliary by post member David Morse. Ronald Hammond and Clarence Olson helped serve.

'Wizard of Oz' Matinee Show Open to All

"The Wizard of Oz," which is to be presented by Winona Senior High School students Friday and Saturday, will hold a matinee performance Saturday at 2 p.m. for youngsters, high school students and adults.

Evening performances Friday and Saturday will begin at 8:15. Adult and student tickets will be sold at the door for all three performances.

Trempealeau Couple Notes Golden Year

TREMPEALEAU, Wis. (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schultz observed their golden wedding anniversary Sunday in St. Bartholomew's recreational hall.

A Mass was celebrated in their honor by the Rev. Edward Sobczyk. Dinner was served to 75 relatives and friends. The honor table was decorated with golden leaves, streamers, a large centerpiece of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums and a three-tiered wedding cake, made by Mrs. Harvey Olson, Lake City, Minn., sister of the groom.

DURING THE dinner, a poem entitled "Early Courtship to Present Time," composed by a neighbor, Mrs. Norris Northrup, 85, was read by Albert Scheer. Mrs. Mary Lehnerts, Brooster, Minn., Mrs. Schultz's sister who was her bridesmaid, was present and also a daughter, Mrs. E. C. (Erna) McCall, Princeton, Ill.

An open house reception was held in the afternoon. Members of the Altar Society and nieces of the honored couple helped with the serving. The dinner was prepared by Mrs. Harvey Olson, Lake City, assisted by Mrs. Lehnerts.

Guests attended from Minneapolis, Lake City, Winona, La Crosse, Galesville, Arcadia, Trempealeau and the surrounding area. Oldest couple present was Mr. and Mrs. Norris Northrup, neighbors. He is 97 and she, 85. The honored couple received many cards, gifts, flowers and a golden money tree.

Mr. Schultz and the former Rose Lehnerts were married Nov. 22, 1915, at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church, Arcadia. They lived in Arcadia about 20 years, in the Caledonia area for 18 years, and in the village here for 12 years. They have farmed most of their married lives.

Their other children are Mrs. Ed (Henrietta) James, Trempealeau, and Henry F. Schultz Jr., Arcadia.

Stalk Rot Bothers Some Corn in Area

ALMA, Wis. — Corn fields in the area are suffering a great deal from stalk rot due because of the climate conditions of the past growing season, Archie Brovold, Buffalo County agent, said.

The most common causes of stalk rot are: Excessive population, unbalanced fertility, frosted immature corn, excessive moisture, insect injury and adverse growing conditions.

According to plant specialists, the cold wet weather of September created conditions which caused the corn hybrids resistance to stalk rot to break down and the crops failed to produce adequate levels of sugar. Along with the early frost on immature corn, this created a situation which even the most stalk rot resistant varieties could not tolerate.

Selection of resistant varieties, correct maturity, proper fertilization and reasonable plant population are management factors which may reduce the loss caused by stalk breakage.

Grain Terminal Meeting Slated

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Leading figures in the shaping of the nation's agricultural policy will discuss farm affairs ranging from details of the new farm bill to how to use America's food abundance to help promote world peace during the 28th annual meeting of the Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association in St. Paul Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will address the traditional "farm dinner" audience at 8 p.m. next Thursday to climax the three-day convention in St. Paul's municipal auditorium.

Five U.S. senators also headline the program. They are Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy and Walter Mondale of Minnesota, Milton R. Young and Quentin N. Burdick of North Dakota and George McGovern of South Dakota.

Several thousand men and women from the farms of Minnesota, Montana, North and South Dakota, and portions of Iowa and Nebraska will attend the GTA annual meeting. They will be representing more than 600 local grain cooperatives that market cooperatively at the regional level through GTA.

3 Pesticides Removed From Recommended List in Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. — Three currently recommended agricultural pesticides will not be on the 1966 list of chemicals recommended by the University of Wisconsin.

Aldrin, dieldrin and heptachlor are not being recommended for certain uses in 1966, according to Walter Gopmerac, University insect specialist. The university will not recommend aldrin and heptachlor for use against corn root worm. Dieldrin will not be recommended for use on apples and cherries.

Use of these chemicals presents a remote, but inherent danger of contaminating dairy food says Gopmerac. Other available chemicals will do the same job, but are less likely to persist, as residues in soil and on crops. Also, some insects have built up resistance to these chemicals.

New recommendations for 1966 are not ready yet. But before the use season begins printed recommendations will be available. The early announcement is primarily for dealers and suppliers.

Gopmerac points out that these chemicals are still accepted for use by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Food and Drug Administration.

Corn Crop Below Expectations

By FRANK BRUESKE
Daily News Farm Editor

High moisture, stalk rot and winter weather. These are the issues that face area farmers as they head into their final harvest of the year — the corn harvest.

Considered to be one of the most vital crops to all farmers, the corn crop, although better than the drought-beaten crop last year, this year is not coming up to earlier expectations.

Winona

OLIVER Strand, Winona County agent, said that only 30 or 35 percent of the corn in Winona County has been picked. Moisture is still high in much of the corn ranging from 20 to above 30 percent. Ideal moisture content is around 15 percent or less. The moisture is still too high for the corn to be put in wide cribs. The cool weather the past few days has slowed drying considerably.

Average county yield will be between 65 to 70 percent, Strand estimates. This compares with an 83-bushel average in 1963. Some corn is being piled on the ground.

The soybean harvest in the county is nearly completed with below normal yields. Beans were of good quality. County average yield will be between 15 to 20 bushels per acre compared with 13 last year and 24 in 1963.

Houston

IN HOUSTON County about 75 percent of the corn crop is still in the fields, said Russell Krech, county agent. Most of the corn is too wet to pick yet. Quite a bit is above 25 percent in moisture, he says.

Spring-plowed fields appear to produce higher yields than fall-plowed fields.

"This is one of the things they didn't write in the books," Krech said.

He urged farmers to crib their corn in cribs no wider than 5 1/2 feet. This will give the corn a chance to dry out.

Soybeans are good quality but are small. Most of the beans in the county have been harvested and are yielding well.

Wabasha

MATT METZ, Wabasha County agent, reported between 40 and 50 percent of the corn in his county has been harvested.

Moisture has been running about 30 percent with some fields under this figure. It hasn't dried out much during the past week. The early maturing and early planted corn is down to about 25 percent. A lot of the picked corn has gone into the silo as silage.

"The farmers are losing a lot of corn from stalk rot," Metz said. The corn falls to the ground and cannot be picked up by the picker. Several farmers in the county have purchased driers to dry their corn. Corn yield is about 65-70 bushels on the county average, which is down from previous years.

The soybean harvest has been completed with average quality beans. Yields have ranged from 15 to 30 bushels per acre with the average yield slightly below normal.

Fillmore

CORN PICKING has just gotten under way in Fillmore County, Milton Hoberg, Fillmore County agent reported. He said about 25 to 30 percent of the crop has been picked at this time. Moisture content varies from 25 to 30 percent and there is quite a variation in the same fields.

"Farmers realize it's nearly the middle of November and they won't be getting any more drying weather," Hoberg noted. "The corn is there, but there will be storage difficulties." There is some stalk rot in the county and the county average yield will be slightly below normal, Hoberg believes.

Thick planted corn is in the worst condition. Second and third year corn also is in poor shape in the county. There also is a difference in the different varieties of corn in regard to stalk rot, Hoberg pointed out. About 80 percent of the soybeans in the county have been harvested with average yields. The beans, with about 13 percent moisture, have been good quality. Thirteen percent moisture for beans is considered normal.

Buffalo

STALK ROT and high moisture have delayed corn harvesting in Wisconsin. Archie Brovold, Buffalo County agent at Alma, said only 50 percent of the county's corn crop has been picked.

"The corn fit for cribbing already has been picked," he noted. "Wet climatic conditions in September plus an early frost made the corn plants open to stock rot. The corn crop will not be as good as conditions indicated earlier."

Corn on the lighter soils is doing better than corn on the heavier soils. County average yield is about 75 to 80 bushels per acre and Brovold believes the county will have an average yield. Moisture in the corn ranges from 22 to 34 percent.

The soybean harvest isn't completed yet, according to Brovold. The frost and moisture hurt the bean crop. The early beans were better than average quality but the late beans will be below average. The total county crop will be about average quality.

Pepin

IN PEPIN County, about half the corn has been picked, according to George Oncken, Pepin County agent. Moisture content ranges from the high 20s to the low 40s with most of the corn in the 30s. Lot of corn in the county is going down from stalk rot.

"Some fellows on the sandy soil say they're having the best corn crop ever," said Oncken. "But the heavy soils are not producing good crops. The average county yield will be about 70 to 75 bushels per acre." This would be just a little better than average.

The bean harvest in the county is nearly completed with a little better than average crop. Moisture in the beans averaged 13 to 14 percent, said Oncken.

Trempealeau

IN TREMPLEAU County about 75 percent of the corn has been picked, according to Ray Shanklin, county 4-H agent. He said the moisture content is down to 22 to 24 percent. But there are isolated cases with late maturing corn or corn that's blighted where the moisture is higher.

There has been "a lot" of stalk rot in the corn and farmers are hurrying to complete the harvest before all the corn ends up on the ground. Most farmers are cribbing the corn while a few others are shelling and drying it. A few are putting the corn into the silo. Shanklin says the county yield will be above average.

The soybean harvest is nearly completed in the county with a good crop and above average yields. Most of the beans are dry enough for storage, said Shanklin. Many farmers are selling the beans as soon as they are combined.

Although there is plenty of wet corn in both the Minnesota and Wisconsin area, it is difficult to assess a dollar value to the amount of corn that has been lost because most of the corn will be fed to livestock in one form or another. Wet corn will not have the food value the drier corn would have, but it still will provide a good quality feed for livestock. Soybeans are mainly a cash crop for the farmers. But here also, it is impossible to find a cash value for the part of the crop which was lost due to wet climatic conditions, Shanklin observed.

double barrelled opportunity from Nutrena

LOW BOOKING PRICES PLUS PRESCRIPTION FEEDING

It paid to book Nutrena Cattle Feed last year. For example, buyers who booked Nutrena Beefcake-32 last fall stood to save $12.20 per ton on the average on this feed when taken out in December compared with the same feed at regular December prices. Saving for October through March of 1962-63 was $9.96 per ton (average — all Nutrena plants).

Wooland Lamb Sale Deduction To Stay Same

LEWISTON, Minn. — Deductions from wool program incentive payments for the 1965 marketing year to finance the wool and lamb producers' self-help promotion program will continue at the same rates as in the past Anthony Helm, chairman, Winona County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said.

Deduction rates will be one cent per pound from shorn wool payments and 5 cents per hundred pounds of liveweight from unshorn lamb payments. These rates are the same as those made from payments received by producers since the beginning of the program.

The chairman pointed out the promotion is conducted by the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., under an agreement with the Secretary of Agriculture. The present agreement — covering the years 1963-65 was approved in a producer referendum held in 1962. For the 1964 marketing year, deductions from payments for financing the council's activities are estimated at $2.5 million.

The chairman stressed the importance of submitting sales documents to the county office at once, whenever sales of wool and unshorn lambs are made. Too often they are something that are easily forgotten until the deadline is past for filing applications.

Helm said that sales documents for all sales made in 1965 must be in and applications signed by the end of January 1966.

Buffalo County 4-H'er Achievement Winner

ALMA, Wis. — A Buffalo County 4-H'er is one of 37 in Wisconsin who has been selected as a state 4-H achievement winner in competition judged recently at the University of Wisconsin.

He is Lee Gehrke, 17, Alma, who was named state winner in 4-H conservation achievement. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Gehrke, Rt. 2, he received the award for planting and improving the timber stand on his father's 296-acre dairy farm. He also has started his own Christmas tree stand.

A senior at Mondovi High School, he has been active in 4-H seven years and has carried projects in woodworking, forestry, dairy, tractor, automotive, nature, conservation, electricity and junior leadership.

Lee has served as president, vice president and treasurer of his 4-H club and has received the Winona Daily News achievement award. He also has received county awards in woodworking, forestry, elementary and agriculture.

The 4-H achievement winners were chosen for their progress in 4-H work and overall contributions to their communities and counties.

They selected seven sets of hybrids ranging from early to late maturity. Each set consisted of four single crosses, two double and one multiple (double-double) hybrid crosses. They gathered and analyzed information on grain yield, number of days to mid-silk, moisture in ears at harvest, plant height, ear length and shelling percentage.

Certain single crosses gave remarkably high yields, but the researchers say that the averages of all the hybrid crosses didn't indicate significantly greater yields.

Yields of single crosses ranged from 74 to 164 bushels per acre. Double cross yields ranged from 85 to 162 bushels. Multiple hybrids yielded 101 to 153 bushels per acre. The scientists explain that the variation in yield was mainly due to differences in maturity.

When they compared individual crosses in all sets, single crosses showed better performance. Of the 10 highest yielding combinations, five were single crosses, three were double crosses, and two were multiple hybrids.

Single hybrids tended to be taller than double or multiple hybrids, possibly indicating more vigor for the single cross plants.

Nanda and Neal think that it may be worthwhile to compare the performance of the various types of hybrid corn more extensively since their tests were for one season only and under one set of environmental conditions.

Gale-Ettrick Vote Favors School Project

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special) — Of 143 advisory votes cast at Gale-Ettrick High School Tuesday night, 126 favored the proposed new building project, 16 were against and one blank ballot was cast.

Plans for financing the proposed $475,000 building program at the high school in Galesville and the elementary school in Ettrick were discussed. John Quinn, legal adviser, explained the procedure and various ways in which the money can be raised. Orrin Anderson, cashier of the Bank of Galesville, also discussed raising funds.

ANDERSON SAID he believed the school should apply for state trust fund financing, with interim financing for about three years. Under such a program, Anderson said, the increase in the school tax rate could be held to one mill or slightly under. The area involved includes Galesville, Town of Gale; Ettrick village, and parts of the towns of Ettrick, Trempealeau and North Bend.

Supt. Robert Howard said the proposed $475,000 includes legal and architect fees, blacktopping parking areas, and equipping and furnishing the building and remodeling projects in addition to construction.

Alex Neilestuen, French Creek, school board member, reviewed the 15-year-history of the development of the integrated district. He reminded persons present that most of the changes proposed were anticipated when the Gale-Ettrick High School was built in 1952.

AT THAT TIME, there wasn't money enough to construct a larger building. Plans drawn by Carl Schubert & Associates, La Crosse architects, provide new junior high facilities, sewing, art, industrial arts, drafting and storerooms and laboratories in a south addition.

The planned north wing and other additions would house four classrooms, choir room and girls' locker room. Lunchroom and library would be enlarged. Extensive remodeling also would be done to the present building. The additions would total about 25,300 square feet.

Winona Co. 4-H Leaders Banquet Slated Nov. 18

The annual Winona County 4-H leaders banquet will be held next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Oaks. The appreciation banquet is sponsored by the Winona Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee to pay tribute to the 4-H leaders of Winona County for their efforts in training boys and girls enrolled in 4-H work.

Winona county agents Oliver Strand and John Halverson will tell of the 4-H highlights of the past year and present the leaders recognition awards.

Entertainment will be given by the "Mississippi's". Gordon R. Espy, chairman for the banquet will be toastmaster.

PARTY AT MONDOVI

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — Dillon-Johnson American Legion Post will sponsor its 19th annual Veterans Day party and luncheon Sunday at the clubrooms starting at 12:45 p.m. Extra heavy turkeys, chickens, geese and ducks, fresh dressed and wrapped, will be available. Music, entertainment, lunch and refreshments will be added features.

mentary would be 1,300 to 2,000 square feet.

The superintendent said that under present conditions, there are more teachers than rooms. Some of the instructors at Ettrick have two grades, and classrooms are crowded.

Population figures indicate that in 10 years about 500 will be enrolled in junior and senior high. Plans are to move all seventh and eighth graders to the Galesville building.

MRS. DEAN Helstad, French Creek, and Mrs. Darwin Congdon, Decora Prairie, members of an advisory board to the school district, described the schools they had visited, the new addition at the Osseo school, and the West Salem school. A question and answer period followed the talks. Donald Haug presided, with Mrs. Robert Cram, school secretary, as recorder.

Members of the school board include Haug, president; Kenneth Truax, Ettrick, clerk; Alex Neilestuen, treasurer, and Orrin Anderson and Richard Bibby, Glasgows Hardies Creek, directors. A special meeting will be held in the near future.

St. Olaf Head Discusses Needs

"There is no magic 'best size' for a college, according to Dr. Sidney A. Rand, president of St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., who spoke to Winona and La Crosse area alumni and friends at a dinner meeting Wednesday evening.

The president said, "The small size of many colleges has been oversold. Not only is there a need for institutions to enroll more students because of the numbers who wish to attend, but this growth also offers opportunities for colleges to improve their facilities and increase their efficiency.

"Colleges must adapt to the day and the needs of the people now. St. Olaf plans to grow slowly in the years ahead, but it does plan to grow."

He added that colleges tend to resist radical changes because their traditions are strong and the past is often glorified both for what it really was and what it is thought to be.

He recognized that "many people question the validity in our day of private higher education. They question whether the private college can marshal resources to offer as broad and complete an education as people need.

"Those of us who know the private, church college know that this institution can and does offer quality education in our time and that with proper support from her friends she will do the same in the years to come."

The alumni meeting marked the area opening of the college's effort to raise $10,450,000 by 1967 to match a Ford Foundation grant of $2.2 million to St. Olaf.

The dinner was at the Holiday Inn, La Crosse.

BROVOLD ON BOARD

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — Arnold Brovold, Beach, a director in Wisconsin Farm Bureau, with Douglas Sack, Town of Gale, returned from Peoria, Ill., where they attended a meeting of FS Services, a new merger of Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa cooperatives. Brovold is a director in the new organization.

BLAIR EASTER LILY

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — It is Easter time in November at the Aloin Olson home. Mrs. Olson, who planted an Easter lily outside this spring, has a plant that has two blossoms and a bud. The plant was taken into the house at the first sign of cool weather.

Mondovi Business Group Plans Yule Promotions

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — Members of Mondovi Agriculture, Business and Professional Men's Association discussed Christmas promotion at a luncheon at Don's Supper Club Tuesday.

Bert Kisselberg, retail committee chairman, said more than $300 in toys will be given to children. Baskets of groceries will be given to adults.

Santa Claus will visit Mondovi Nov. 26. Starting Dec. 17 he will be in town every afternoon and evening until Christmas and will have treats for children Dec. 24.

Beginning Dec. 1, stores will be open every Wednesday night in addition to regular Friday nights. Starting Dec. 17, they will be open every night until Christmas. Choirs from Mondovi and area churches will sing their annual Christmas carols downtown, a tradition of many years.

President Edward Robinson, announced appointment of Galen Sather as director to fill the unexpired term of Howard Peck. Harris Senum was appointed vice president.

WABASHA SCHOLARSHIP

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — Wahpaha Lodge 14, AF & AM, again will sponsor a scholarship for a Wabasha Public School graduate. An essay will be required of each contestant. Judges evaluating the essays will be Supt. Wesley Concidine; Donald Duerre, Wabasha County register of deeds, and Mrs. Kenneth Boots, teacher. This is the third year Wabasha Masons have sponsored the scholarship.

DAKOTA PATIENTS

DAKOTA, Minn. (Special) — Dennis Schmitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Schmitz, Nodine area, is making satisfactory recovery after surgery at St. Francis hospital, La Crosse. Mrs. Clement Frappier had surgery at St. Marys Hospital, Rochester, for removal of a silver plate in the head, placed there after a major operation several years ago to protect a sensitive area on which surgery had been performed. A few months ago, she fell while ascending a stairway, striking her head. A slight infection set in. Daniel Stremcha returned Friday from a month at Gillette Hospital, St. Paul, and is once more attending regular classes at La Crescent High School, wearing a body cast to help his weakened spine. This stay at Gillette hospital was a month long.

Stolen Car Recovered

A car stolen from Winona last August was recovered today in Rochester, and a vandal broke a storm window in a Winona home Wednesday night, Police Chief James W. McCabe reported.

The 1955 sedan reported stolen Aug. 1 from Ivern Thompson, 463 E. 4th St., was found today at 7:10 a.m. parked behind a Rochester bar, Chief McCabe said. It had apparently been abandoned several days ago, he added.

Thompson's car was stolen from in front of his home late on the night of July 31. At the time, police believed it might have been taken by the same man who abandoned a stolen car near the sewage disposal plant earlier that night after being chased from Homer, Minn., by a Minnesota Highway Patrolman.

Chief McCabe said that Rochester police have not arrested anyone in connection with finding the stolen Thompson car.

Sibley Believes Rolvaag Being Treated Unfairly

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota Gov. Karl Rolvaag is, in some respects, "being maligned and treated unfairly," Prof. Mulford G. Sibley said Wednesday.

The University of Minnesota professor, a defender of controversial causes, defended Rolvaag in a talk to the Hillel Foundation at the university.

Sibley said he believed reports of Rolvaag's unpopularity with the voters were "exaggerated." It is premature to say that Rolvaag cannot win re-election next year, Sibley added.

Sibley said he admired both Rolvaag and Lt. Gov. A. M. Keith because "they defended a communist (small C)" namely himself.

The professor added that Keith's association with U.S. Mutual Insurance, an affiliate of American Allied, "will be a mark against him" as a potential Democratic - Farmer-Labor governor candidate "because a lot of people don't look at the facts."

Friends may call at Colby Funeral Home, Cochrane, Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday until 11 a.m., then at the church.

Youth Sentenced To Youth Center

FREDDIE R. MULLINS, 17, Dallas, Tex. — who admitted a charge of armed robbery Monday in District Court — arrived today at Lino Lakes reception center of the Youth Conservation Commission (YCC), Sheriff George L. Fort reported.

Mullins was sentenced Monday to the YCC for a term "not to exceed" the 20 years in prison an adult would get as a maximum penalty. Judge Arnold Hatfield immediately sent a post-sentence psychiatric examination for the youth.

This will be carried out by the professional staff at the YCC reception center. Judge Hatfield has frequently pointed out to defendants that the YCC is equipped to train youths for productive roles in society and usually does not hold them for more than a year.

Mullins traveled to Lino Lakes with Deputy Helmer Weinmann.

Couple in Good Condition After Heart Operations

CHICAGO (AP) — A Wisconsin couple, married for 37 years, took together into surgery for similar heart conditions and are in "very good condition" today.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Druyor of Prairie du Chien, Wis., underwent open heart surgery Wednesday by Dr. M. S. Mazel. The operation, called a cardiopexy, was to unblock arteries leading to the heart.

Mazel said the Druyors probably will be up and walking today and will be back at work in two or three weeks.

The couple came to Chicago two weeks ago so Druyor, 62, who had a heart condition for seven years, could have a checkup. His wife, 60, decided to have one while she was here — and the tests disclosed that she had a similar condition, only worse.

They checked into the same room at Edgewater Hospital and underwent surgery one after the other. Each operation lasted about one hour.

Mazel, head of a seven-man surgical team which performed the operations, said the surgery is designed to give the patient a balanced supply of blood.

"We took him in at 8 a.m., finished him at 9, then he went to the recovery room," Mazel said. "I went down and told his wife that everything was fine. We operated on her at 10, and were through by 11."

Hospital officials said the couple decided to have their surgery the same day to avoid anxiety for each other that might possibly cause further damage to their hearts.

Mazel has performed more than 200 such operations. Druyor is president of Travel Mat, Inc., a national paper mat printer.

He formerly published the now-defunct Crawford County Press, a weekly newspaper.

Watkins Plans To Add 4,000 City Dealers

Sexton Petersen

Watkins Products, Inc., plans to add 4,000 city dealers in 1966, it was announced today in conjunction with appointment of several persons.

Craig C. Currier has been appointed recruiting and training director of the city sales division, of Watkins Products, Inc., it was announced by C. C. Currier, vice president of the division.

The new director will continue the administrative activities launched in 1962 by Myles Petersen, who has taken a temporary leave of absence from the company because of illness.

The company vice president also announced that Thomas G. Sexton, assistant director of recruiting and training, would assume increased responsibility in supervising the independent operations of more than Craig Currier 450 metropolitan distributorships and counter branches throughout the U.S. and Canada.

Craig Currier, 875 W. Mark St., joined the company in 1956 following his graduation from Winona State College. He has served the company in many administrative capacities including the position of regional manager at the Denver, Colo., branch and most recently as assistant to the general manager of the city sales division.

Petersen, who has developed many of the company's recruiting and training programs during the past three years, joined the company in 1945 following his discharge from the U.S. Navy. He is a graduate of Winona State College and lives with his wife, Deris, and family in Valley View.

Sexton, a former district sales manager, has been associated with the company in an administrative capacity since 1961. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and lives with his wife, Sharon, and family at 928 W. King St.

2 in President's Race at Stockton

STOCKTON, Minn. — A contest has developed for the office of president on the Stockton Village Council. Incumbent George Hinton filed as did Vincent Daniel.

Allan Mueller filed for trustee and Clyde English, treasurer. Both are incumbents. No one filed for the justice of peace office, which is vacant or for constable with Jack Duellman as incumbent.

All terms are for two years with the exception of trustee which is for three.

The election will be Dec. 7 from 1:30 to 8 p.m. in the village hall.

Mabel Cable Job Nearly Complete

MABEL, Minn. (Special) — Installation of underground telephone cable for the Mabel and Burr Oak telephone exchanges has been nearly completed by the Midwest Utility Construction Co. of Prior Lake, Minn.

With continued good weather the drops to the homes from the main cables should be completed by Thanksgiving.

Approximately half the telephones for the two exchanges have been installed. Most of the phones in Mabel and north of Highway 44 are ready for test ringing. Some splicing of the overhead cable in Mabel still is incomplete. All phones in the Hesper area should be installed within two weeks.

Crossing Repair To Take at Least Another Week

Given good weather, the Franklin Street crossing repairs now under way can be finished in another week, Milwaukee Railroad officials said today. If weather is unfavorable, the job may take 10 days to two weeks.

Crews are now in their fourth week of work on the crossing. An original estimate that the crossing would be closed for two weeks has proved to be optimistic.

Workmen have been delayed by emergency situations arising elsewhere in the area, according to Donald Dumas, Milwaukee agent here. Applications of bituminous surfacing at the Baker Street crossing took two days, he said, and had to be finished before weather conditions worsened.

A bituminous seal on the Main Street crossing required a day; another day was needed for work on the Broadway crossing and emergency repairs on a Minnesota City crossing took two more working days, Dumas said.

At first, the plan was to rebuild the crossing only for the double-track main line at Franklin Street. When excavating began, Dumas said, workmen found that a side track also needed new ties. This work was added instead of being put off until later, Dumas said, so that the crossing would not have to be closed again for that purpose.

School for Boys Recommended for Area Near Wausau

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A new state school for boys will be located within 50 miles of northern Wisconsin's population center which is 10 miles north and west of Wausau.

The State Welfare Board voted Wednesday to limit the possible sites for the new institution to this area "as a recognition of convenience to the people of northern Wisconsin."

The legislature stipulated that the school be built north of a line from La Crosse to Manitowish. Since the bill became law northern Wisconsin communities have been bidding to get the new facility in their area.

Potentially Hawk Bucketeers Are Sound Unit...BUT...

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

Make an analysis of Winona High School's basketball team and your thinking already seems to lead back to the same spot: potentially good, but...

Certainly, back are two bona fide starters, plus another who can be considered that, another who saw extensive duty and a 6-6 junior who could have much to say.

But also on the scene are two injuries that could have more than a little effect on the club.

Fulltime starters back from last year are 6-1 guard Gary Addington and 6-5 forward Larry Larson. Both are seniors. Then there is 5-9 Don Hazelton, a guard, who started three-fourths of the season and was a leading performer in the one-point tournament loss to Rochester.

Also back is 6-1 forward Loren Benz, who was elevated from the "B" squad to the varsity Jan. 9 last year, missing by six the quarters necessary to letter. He had 16.

And also there is Paul Plachecki, the 6-6 junior who was a leading performer on Bob Lee's outstanding sophomore unit.

Also returning are 5-11 lettermen John Ahrens and John Walski, both guards a year ago.

BUT

Benz aggravated a knee injury in the final football game against Austin last Friday and Kenney doubts that he will be ready for full-speed duty until after Jan. 1. And Addington suffered a shoulder dislocation that could handicap him. He is working out.

"He could be ready for Harmony," said Kenney of Addington. "It's just a question of whether or not he gets it bumped in practice. I've seen that happen before."

Harmony, incidentally, marks the Winona High opener Nov. 19.

Now assuming everyone was ready to go, selecting a starting unit probably would be no problem. It seems natural that Addington and Hazelton would fall into guard roles, Larson and Benz into forward spots and Plachecki into the pivot.

Right now, for practice purposes, Plachecki is the center, Walski and Larson the forwards and Hazelton and Ahrens the guards. And that is not likely to change before Friday when the Hawks run against St. Charles in a scrimmage here.

Friday also marks the day of the first and only cut Kenney will make. He has 15 boys drilling. Three or four will go.

"Actually, if it weren't for the two injuries, we'd be in good shape," said Kenney. "Of course the boys who were out for football are in good condition and the others seem ready also. But with the injuries, we could get off to a slow start."

Basically, the Hawks are favored by their schedule. Their first three games (Harmony Nov. 19, Minneapolis Roosevelt Nov. 26 and the Big Nine opener with Owatonna Dec. 3) are at home. Then they play at Albert Lea Dec. 10 before tackling Rochester at home Dec. 17. The holiday break follows.

"We aren't looking past any of those," he stated. "Those five games can tell us a lot."

While Owatonna and Albert Lea probably will not be in the chase for Big Nine roses, both could create a stir. Owatonna has a pair of starters back and Albert Lea is tough at home.

Then, of course, comes mighty John Marshall. True, the Rockets no longer have Dave Daugherty and Fred King. But they do have the likes of Bill Schwartz, Darrell Moon, Larry Noser, Rick Bowron, Bryce Kommerstad, Al Fierke and Al Hiley. And it also is rumored that the JM forces have captured a 6-6 transfer.

"That's all they'd need," mused Kenney wryly.

Reviewing the rest of the conference quickly, Austin has three starters back, Northfield a starter and a 6-5 transfer who has the tools for stardom, Faribault and Red Wing one starter each and Mankato and Albert Lea none.

And, no doubt, Kenney expects a typical title scramble.

Other than the lettermen and holdovers from last year, working out are: Scott Hannon, Art Humphries, Roland Austin, Steve Moen, Pat Hopf, George Hubbard, John Foster and David Block.

HAWK NOTES: Once again in command of the "B" squad will be Bob Lee, whose team notched a 13-4 mark last year.

Kenney has set Monday as parents' night. Activities will get under way at 7 p.m.

The Hawks this year have eight junior varsity games scheduled and need just one more to fill.

QUESTION FOR ST. MARY'S

To 'B' Or Not to...?

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

To "B" or not to "B"?

That, interested citizens, is the question being pondered on the St. Mary's College campus as the basketball season approaches.

You see, the entire problem surrounds 6-10 transfer Gary Addis, the La Crosse Logan marvel, who is (hopefully) beginning a basketball tenure with Ken Wiltgen's Redmen.

Since Addis is here after beginning his college education at Gannon, Pa., College, he won't be eligible to compete until Dec. 17. But since he also is on a St. Mary's College scholarship (academic) he needs a "B" average to keep it.

"Now we're going to have to wait and see," said Wiltgen. "He is an excellent student, but..."

But make no mistake. Even without the giant from La Crosse, the Redmen potentially are a sound unit.

Back from the team that compiled a 17-9 record (that is the same mark St. Mary's has had for two consecutive seasons) are three starters and the sixth and seventh men.

Returning starters are 6-6 senior forward and captain Rog Pytlewski (the only senior on the unit, incidentally), 6-0 junior guard Jerry Sausser and 6-4½ junior forward-center George Hoder. Jim Buffo, 6-1 junior guard-forward, was No. 6 man last year and Dennis Ludden, 6-1 junior guard, the seventh man.

Also back are 6-5 junior center-forward Jim Murphy, 6-3 sophomore guard-forward Tom Keenan and 6-3 junior Ward Hersted.

Completing the transfer picture is 6-2 sophomore guard-forward Jerry Westmeyer, here from Gonzaga.

Because of the returnees Wiltgen says: "I'd like to think we'll be pretty good. We're big enough and potentially good enough."

But there are a couple of problems. The most major is how the Redmen will fare defensively.

"Right now we don't have that man who can take an opponent's leading scorer and do a job on him," said Wiltgen, who misses departed graduate George Valaika. "We're going to miss Valaika more than (Mike, graduated guard) Maloney for that reason. But Mike was my leader and we're going to have to find someone for that job, too."

And, of course, then you ask where the Redmen could finish in the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Is This End Of Road for Sugar Ray?

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson is near the end of the road but the roar of the crowd still makes sweet music in his ears. The fight with young Joey Archer Wednesday night may have been his last stop. The Harlem dandy wants to think it over for a day or two before he makes up his mind.

The Sugar Man retired way back in 1952 and stayed away for two years. After he came back he won and lost the world middleweight title three times. But the skills that earned him the reputation of the best fighter pound-for-pound in all ring history have faded.

His dream of winning the championship for the sixth time must have vanished in thin air after his game effort but decisive defeat by the 27-year old New York Irishman.

It is Archer's turn to scream "we want Dick Tiger." Chances are he'll get that shot at the middleweight crown. Teddy Brenner, the Madison Square Garden matchmaker, wants to make it for March in New York.

Archer knocked down Robinson for a nine-count in the fourth round to the surprise of the Civic Arena crowd of 9,023 that paid a gross gate of $40,913. He rocked the tired body of the faded ex-champion time after time and almost put him away in the 10th round.

All three officials voted for him — referee Buck McTiernan 48-41, judge Ernie Sesto 49-40 and judge George Lupinacci 50-39. The AP card was 48-41.

When the final bell rang the cheers were for Sugar Ray, who claims to be 44 although the recordbooks carry his age at 45. They weren't applauding because they thought Robinson had won.

They were paying a tribute to a gallant stand by an old man who was still trying to knock out the kid with one big punch. He had only one big round, the third.

"I tried from the first punch to knock him out," said Robinson, a forlorn figure on a bench. "The knockdown was the difference. He caught me off balance with a right hand."

Is this the end? "You'll have to ask my manager," said Robinson pointing to George Gainford.

KENNEDY SIGNED LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers announced the signing Monday of former Chicago Cubs head coach Bob Kennedy as outfield instructor with the Dodgers' instructional club at Mesa, Ariz.

LET'S TALK SPORTS

HAMLIN UNIVERSITY WILL tell nothing but nice tales about John Kobs. That is the way it should be since the former Lake City man is one of the school's greatest all-around athletes.

Just consider some of the facts about the man who went on to coach at Hamline from 1921-24 before leaving for Michigan State and head baseball and hockey jobs and assistant positions in football and basketball.

• He won 13 letters at Hamline — four each in football and basketball, three in baseball and one in track.

• Was named to all-state college teams for three years each in football and basketball and two years in baseball.

Then you go on to his coaching record.

In 39 years as MSU head baseball coach, his record shows 556 wins against 363 losses.

He also developed such players as Robin Roberts, Ed Hobaugh, Ron Perranoski, Al Luplow, Jack Kralick, Hobie Landrith and Dick Radatz for the pros.

He served on the coaching staff for Spartan teams that took two Rose Bowl victories.

Although now retired from coaching, Kobs — who still has many relatives and friends in the area — is serving his 41st year on the MSU athletic staff.

Oh yes, there is more to the story. He is a charter member, past secretary and past president of the American Association of College Baseball Coaches and also has served in several capacities with the NCAA and with the Olympic and Pan American Games.

He is a member of the Helms Foundation Hall of Fame and is winner of Rockne Club and Lefty Gomez awards. In January of 1951, he was selected as one of Minnesota's top five athletes for the first half of the 20th century.

Now you know why Mr. Kobs belongs in the Hamline Hall of Fame.

Kobs came to Lake City while still in grade school. Three of his sisters remained in the area, Mrs. Millie Herrick of Rochester, Mrs. Nat (Mabel) Peterson of Lake City and Mrs. Elmer (Florence) Johnson of Lake City.

TODAY WE'RE RUNNING a three-column picture over this column. And every time Winona High School football coach Marv Gunderson sees it, he gets that big grin on his face.

As you can see, the photo shows a mass of bodies in football uniforms, exhibiting various stances and degrees of action.

In the foreground, of course, is the Hawk varsity that compiled a 4-4-1 record this season. Then there are sophomore and freshmen squads and even a sprinkling of junior high schoolers.

As near as we could count there are well over 150 footballers pictured.

Gunderson has long said: "Dedication and numbers... that's what makes a winner."

His reasoning is sound. Numbers breed competition, competition is desire and desire and pride bring victories.

Now that the numbers are there, we'll find the dedication and we'll be off and running!

WE RECEIVED A CALL bright and early Wednesday morning concerning that Tuesday piece on the state Legion champions of 1931.

Remember in Frank Morsen's letter he listed several names. Of course, since most of them were somewhat complicated, he didn't know about the spellings.

As you know, most of them were goofed up. There was one abbreviated to "HIMRSKI."

Our caller wanted to inform us that that happened to be first baseman Lambert Hamerski, now Winona's acting postmaster.

Last Rejoins Gophers for Full Workout

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Flanker Kenny Last, slowed by a sore knee earlier this week, took full part in Minnesota football drills Wednesday. The 6-4, 210-pound receiver had fluid drained from his knee.

Last and the Gophers' other two rangy receivers — Aaron Brown and Kent Kramer — are expected to be in the best physical shape since the Gophers' second game of the season. Minnesota plays at Purdue Saturday.

Kramer, 6-5 and 230 pounds, has been troubled with a sore ankle but appears recovered.

Brown, 6-4 and 240 pounds, suffered a broken jaw early in the season.

Last leads Gopher receivers with 20 catches for 295 yards. Brown has grabbed 19 for 274 yards, and Kramer has snugged 18 for 223 yards.

The Gophers went through a routine practice Wednesday.

Associated Press Sports Writer Will Grimsley of New York predicts Purdue will down the Gophers 18-14.

Mays Sets Record Just By Being Named as MVP

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Just to win the Award twice.

Mays led the majors with a personal high of 52 homers and led the National League with 360 total bases and a .645 slugging average. He batted across 112 runs and hit for a .317 average.

"Beating Koufax is a great thrill," he said. "I thought I'd be a candidate because this was one of my best years and I didn't think I'd be left out."

Mays carried the Giants through August by hitting 17 homers, a league record. San Francisco then won 14 in a row in September and took over first place only to fall back later in the race of a 13-game Los Angeles victory string.

Home run No. 52 came on the last day of the season and set a club record. It left him with 505 career homers, only six less than the National League mark of 511 by ex-Giant Mel Ott.

MINOR LEAGUE CITY PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP) — The Pawtucket City Council authorized city officials Wednesday night to sign a contract with the Eastern League, bringing minor league baseball to the city.

Purdue Riding on Retribution Road?

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Off-Denied Purdue, its Rose Bowl hopes and championship ambitions only a cruel memory, attempts to take a second step on the road to retribution Saturday when the Boilermakers host Minnesota.

Purdue was sailing toward an unbeaten season, a conference title and possible national championship when a fourth quarter letup against Michigan State Oct. 23 cost the Boilermakers two touchdowns and a 14-10 defeat.

Illinois upset Purdue 21-0 the following week before the aroused Boilermakers blasted Wisconsin 45-7 last Saturday. The Boilermakers, who have never made the trip to Pasadena, also have an old score to settle with the Gophers. A 14-7 defeat at the hands of the Gophers late last season cost Purdue a share of the Big Ten title with Michigan and a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Purdue finished 5-2 last year and handed champion Michigan its only league loss 21-20. The Boilermakers had 23 returning lettermen and 15 regulars from last year, so a 5-2-1 record to date is somewhat of a disappointment.

Purdue is 3-2 in the Big Ten this season, compared to Minnesota's 4-1 mark.

The Minnesota-Purdue tussle is traditionally one of the hardest hitting struggles of any season.

Statistics show that the Gophers have gained over 50 yards a game more than Purdue on the ground. But Purdue is expected to field a much more potent running attack.

The Boilermakers have averaged 109.2 yards rushing in five league games, compared with Minnesota's 163.6 average. But Minnesota has lost its top runner, halfback Dave Colburn, for the remainder of the season with a broken collarbone. With Colburn on the sidelines, the Gophers were able to gain only 75 yards rushing last Saturday against Northwestern.

Purdue had been relying heavily on the passing of Bob Griese until the Boilermakers broke loose for 253 yards on the ground against Wisconsin.

"They finally turned loose Gordon Teter and John Kuzniowski—a couple of bulls," said Gopher assistant coach Wally Johnson, who scouted the Boilermakers.

The contest also matches two of the top passers in the nation in Minnesota's John Hankinson and Griese.

Hankinson, with two games remaining, has already broken most of the school passing marks. He has completed 89 of 173 tosses for 1,175 yards and seven touchdowns. He is also the Gophers' top scorer with 36 points.

Purdue had gained 1,484 yards through the air in seven games before switching its emphasis to the ground against Wisconsin. Griese threw only nine passes and completed five for 91 yards.

Headaches + Big Expense: Racing Tale

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Laurel race track officials will spend an estimated $250,000 to stage the 14th running of the Washington, D.C., International today. But they gladly would have spent more to save the headaches that have plagued them since they started putting the field together for the 1 1/4-mile grass course event.

John Schapiro, president of the track located midway between Baltimore and Washington, D.C., gave the figures after the field had been cut to seven Wednesday by the withdrawal of Hill Rise.

Hill Rise, last to be invited but second choice in the advance line, developed a 103-degree temperature Wednesday morning following a satisfactory workout. Owner George A. Pope Jr. lost no time withdrawing his 4-year-old, who had scored an impressive victory in the Man o' War at Aqueduct his last time out.

The withdrawal of Hill Rise was the latest in the long line of disappointments as Schapiro organized the field. First he had hoped to get Kelso, the world's leading money winner, but the 1964 International winner and five times America's Horse of the Year, suffered an eye injury.

Before and after there were such other setbacks as: Tom Rolfe, foremost American 3-year-old, declined the issue; Ireland's Meadow Court failed to hold the form he showed in winning the Irish Derby; owners of Sea Bird and Reliance, Europe's two best 3-year-olds, advised their colts would not be available; England's Conovermore turned up lame; Italy's Hazeltine was injured in a workout; Russia's Analine, third in 1964, failed to appear; and Venezuela's Calcas came down with colic shortly before he was scheduled to leave Caracas.

The International is a race in which Laurel picks up the entire check for shipping of the horses and the expenses of the owners, trainers, jockeys and other handlers. There is no entry fee.

Baby-Sitting Worry Isn't for American

NEW YORK (AP) — Seeking to solve what it calls a baby-sitting problem, the American Football League has set Nov. 20 for its college draft and once again has incurred the wrath of college officials.

As a result of the AFL move Wednesday, the National League says it may be forced to change its mind and follow the younger league in holding an early draft.

The AFL action, announced by Commissioner Joe Foss, ignited the college-pro controversy all over again. The dispute raged last year over alleged secret drafts, player-hiding, early signings and double signings.

Following that extended battle, both pro leagues told the National Collegiate Athletic Association they would refrain from signing players before their eligibility had ended. The NCAA also asked that the drafts be held no earlier than Nov. 27, the last big Saturday of college football.

Foss said Nov. 20 was selected for two reasons. "First, it is the day on which a majority of college teams complete their schedules," he said. "And, further, I personally feel that drafting on the 20th will go a long way toward eliminating so-called baby-sitting practices which have sprung up the last two years."

"A number of unsavory situations came to light from the practice of players being hidden away for several days prior to the last two drafts. I think it's in the best interest of all that we do our best to try and eliminate an increasingly unhealthy situation."

But James Corbett of Louisiana State, chairman of the NCAA committee on pro relations, didn't take that view. "The AFL action," he said, "makes a mockery of that league's agreement with the NCAA and its member colleges."

A draft as early as Nov. 20 can only be a completely negative morale factor since there will be increased pressure on the drafted player, on his team and on his college — at exactly the wrong time.

Foss, however, said the AFL would not violate the NCAA's primary concern over early signings.

"We just want a chance to contact the players and make our sales pitch," he added. "We understand the NFL has made elaborate plans again for baby-sitting with prospects and we want to get the chance to talk with these prospects."

Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the NFL didn't say anything about the baby-sitting charges but he did say the league tentatively is planning its draft for Nov. 27, "in accordance with the wishes of colleges and universities."

"However, we may be forced to draft much sooner if others fail to honor requests."

Wizard Leads Knicks Past Wonderland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Wizard of Oz led the New York Knickerbockers through Wonderland again and he's got Harry Gallatin about ready to start talking back to that looking glass.

The Wizard goes under the name of Oscar Robertson and he plays backcourt for the Cincinnati Royals. But he's the Wizard all right. Just ask Gallatin and the rest of the National Basketball Association coaches whose clubs must play the Royals.

Oscar had a routine night against the Knickerbockers Wednesday. He scored 41 points and tacked on 17 assists as the Royals handed New York its 14th straight loss in Wonderland . . . or Cincinnati 124-116.

The Knicks, who play like a jinxed club in Cincinnati, opened an 11-point lead in the second period but saw it wither away under a surge by Robertson and Co.

Jerry Lucas helped the Big O, scoring 28 points and pulling down 21 rebounds. Dick Barnett led New York with 35.

Jerry West and Elgin Baylor combined for 70 points between them as Los Angeles ripped Detroit 133-125 and Baltimore stood off a late St. Louis surge and beat the Hawks 124-117 in the only other NBA games played Wednesday.

ference (the Redmen's mark for the past three years)," smiled Willgen. Of course, his tone meant better things are expected.

Last year, the Redmen were perhaps seven men deep. This year Willgen expects bigger things from his bench. "We should be tougher there," he assesses. "Keenan is pretty good and Hersted could help."

Since the school now offers no athletic scholarships, freshmen talent last year was lean. The picture, at least until this week, was brighter.

Making up the unit working under former St. Mary's and Winona State star Tom Stallings, now the Redmen assistant coach while doing his practice teaching at Washington-Kosciusko and Central Junior High schools, are two members of the Cotter team that took second place in the state Catholic tournament a year ago.

They are 6-0 guard Bill Browne and 6-3 forward Dan Peloway, who Willgen feels shows much promise. Then there are 5-10 Bob Souchak, 6-2 Tim Balakas, 6-0 Tim Lamb and 5-10 John Masterson. Once on hand were Cotter's 6-6 Joe Willdenborg and a 6-5 seminarian. Now both have departed.

"Where we once had some size, now we have none," said the coach.

On the conference scene, Willgen expects St. Thomas and Gustavus, both with four starters returning, to be the favorites.

"But at least," he says, "we won't be fighting that size."

Both Augsburg giant Dan Anderson and University of Minnesota-Duluth's towering Mike Patterson are departed.

"Unless someone has gotten a big man (and UMD captured Eau Claire Memorial stars 6-9 Jeff Ellenson and 6-5 Gary Rheingans) I don't know about, there shouldn't be the real big one left," said the coach.

Except Addis that is.

St. Mary's opens its season against Lakeland here Dec. 1 and gets its first taste of conference competition at Gustavus on Dec. 15.

"And that," said Willgen, who will run his team against Winona State in a Saturday scrimmage, "would be a good one to win . . ."

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) —

The Mondovi Co-op Equity Association held ground breaking ceremonies last week for its new mill and bulk feed plant to replace the mill destroyed by fire in November 1964.

Albert Heck, board president, turned the first shovel of dirt. Other members present were: Herman Linse, Edward Linse, Rufus Machmeyer, Gerald Ede, secretary - treasurer; Marvin Moy, Marvin Stay, vice president; Clarence Ness, and D. L. Scholt, manager.

The new mill will have the latest milling equipment, including premixer, vertical and horizontal mixers, an air system device for moving grains, which meets the Federal Food and Drug Administration's requirements, and a large roller mill capable of rolling ear corn as well as any other grains.

The building will be erected on property owned by the Equity to the rear of the East Side Service Station. The driveway will be on the west, with the grain dump on the south, and the load-out on the east. There will be ample parking facilities.
